
A Landmark Tumbles Down

THE COLLOPY HOUSE, a well known Daly City landmark at the corner of East Market and Mission streets, was reduced to a pile of rubble Monday as bulldozers razed the old structure, once a boarding house-saloon. Owner Lucille Collopy, of Burlingame, had fought the action for the past several years. The building was razed to make way for a state-financed street widening project. (Other photos page 2). FOR OVER $10-MILLION

Doelger Sells Coast Lands

Builder Henry Doelger announced today in Daly City that he has entered into an agreement to sell his San Mateo County Coastside holdings to a new organization headed by Jim and Bill Dean, nationally-known builders and developers.

Their partner in one of the biggest real estate transactions in recent years is Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

Price of the transaction exceeds $10 million. More than 8,000 acres of land, some of the choicest in all California, are involved in the sale.

The father and son Deane team, long-time residents of San Mateo County, formerly were part of Deane Brothers, where they won national acclaim for their Lake Forest development, a 3000-acre community located between Santa Ana and San Clemente in Orange County.

The Doelger property lies in the communities of Half Moon Bay, Montara, Moss Beach, Princeton, El Granada and Miramar as well as surrounding unincorporated county lands.

"This beautiful land, which Doelger has wisely acquired over the years, affords an unusual opportunity for a thoughtful and orderly development," the new owners said.

"We look forward to working with the county and the local communities to take advantage of the unusual setting on the Coast to create an attractive, oceanside community that will be a credit to all concerned."

The Deanes emphasized that they are interested only in the highest quality of development for their coastal project. They pointed out that specific details of development must await planning and design work, which will be initiated as soon as possible. Actual development may begin as soon as plans are accepted by the appropriate public agencies.

Attractive and permanent headquarters for the Deane-Westinghouse organization will be established in the Half Moon Bay area.

The senior Deane was born in Oakland. He lived in Berkeley, attended the University of California and served in the Navy before going to work for the Turk-Aire Furnace Co. in San Francisco where he became ex-

Problems With Bus

Portola Trail Still A Hazardous Route

By BOB PETERSON

About 150 persons taking a guided bus tour of the trail once taken by Gaspar de Portola in 1769 found themselves unexpectedly out walking when a Greyhound bus become stuck on a hairpin turn.

The incident happened at about 4 p.m. Saturday, approximately a mile up into the hills above the San Andreas Lake dam.

Shortly after stopping on top of Sweeny Ridge in Pacifica, where Portola and his men first saw San Francisco Bay, the tour bus began winding its way through San Francisco Water Department property.

Almost to the bottom of the hill, the lead bus, apparently not taking a wide enough sweep, and beause there was a dip in the road, got hung up on the curve.

The driver was unable to either go forward, because the bus faced the side of the hill, or backward, because the back of the bus was scraping the roadway. .

There were four buses in the caravan. All the drivers—Burl McDonald, driver of the first bus, Stewart Nalbersma, Wayne LeQuie and Ray Champion—tried valiantly to get the large scienicruiser around the corner. They were aided in their efforts by several San Francisco Water Department rangers, not to mention various suggestions from roadside "quarterbacks."

Attempts were made to jack the vehicle up, placing large timbers under the tires, to obtain a level driving surface. It was to no avail.

The passengers who had not immediately began the walk to the bottom of the hill realized it was the only way out, and followed their predeccessors.

They waited at the bottom of the hill while the three buses to the rear of the stuck vehicle backed up along the curving road to a turn-around point. The buses then back-tracked up Sweeney Ridge and down to the dam site to pick up the few passengers who had not either hiked to the freeway or hitched a ride with a passing vehicle.

A wrecker was called to help the stuck bus out of its predicament.

LEAVE THE DRIVING TO US—Because of a slight problem, a bus getting stuck on a hairpin curve, the approximately 150 persons on the Gaspar de Portola trail tour sponsored by the San Mateo County Historical Association had to do what Portola and his men did—walk. Here, drivers, aided by San Francisco Water Department rangers, attempt to get the bus out of its predicament by sliding planks under the wheels. The incident happened approximately a mile up into watershed property above San Andreas Lake. (Post Photo by Starr)

LEADS 'NEGATIVE'

Coast Boy, 3½ Still Missing

By WILL E. THOMAS

Admitting they had exhausted all local leads in their search for a three and one-half year old boy missing from his home since last Thursday afternoon, Pacifica police have prepared 1,000 flyers for circulation to law enforcement agencies throughout northern California.

The boy, Danny Byrum, son of Mrs. Donna Byrum of 155 Brighton Road, Pacifica, wandered away at 4 p.m. Thursday, as he had done at least twice previously.

However, he hasn't been seen since 4:20 p.m. when he was observed playing on a Sharp Park area beach with another tot less than two blocks from the apartment in which he lives with his mother and stepfather, Joel Byrum, 23, a machinist's helper who works in Hayward.

Danny's father, according to a Pacifica police spokesman, also lives in Pacifica. A merchant seaman, he resides on Crespi Drive with his mother, the source said.

Captain Ray Shipley, who, along with Chief Neil Tremaine and Sgt. Ray Manley have been leading the search efforts of not only policemen, but firemen, other employes, as well as numerous private citizens, disclosed Monday the case had been referred to the department's detective section.

Detective Capt. Al Tebaldi noted, "At this point we have no new leads" into the whereabouts of the 3½-foot-tall, 30 pound, brown-haired youngster.

The department has been checking a variety of leads, all of which have proved unfounded, the Pacifica authorities said.

Among these leads were reports that the child had been seen later in the day a few blocks east of the beach.

In addition, a woman's claim that she "had a vision" on the child tagging along with other

Contractor Protests Pool Pact

The contract let by the city of South San Francisco for construction of the orange park swimming pool is being protested by the second lowest bidder.

Jim Marsh, president of the James Marsh Company, is protesting the awarding of the contract because the low bidder, the Martinelli Construction Company, did not list sub contractors.

Another man, identifying himself as John O'Leary and associated with electrical contracting indicated this was a violation of a government code established by the legislature in 1963. It is referred to as the bid listing law.

"We think we are the low responsible bidder," said Marsh "and we'd like you (the councilmen) to take this matter under consideration."

City Attny. John Noonan acknowledged the law, saying "it is a good law". He asked, and received permission to study the situation and report back to the councilmen at their next session.

Special Meet On S.S.F. Duplexes

A special meeting has been called for 7:30 Thursday evening at South San Francisco at discuss — once again — the pros and cons of establishing a cluster of nine duplexes on Camaritas Avenue.

The matter, contested by the South San Francisco School District and local citizens, especially the Rev. Gilbert Vieira, was rehashed again last night.

The Rev. Vieira opened the hearing with what appeared to be a reasonable question: why did two commissioners change their votes? He said he had read in the paper why the commissioners had done so, but had never been formally informed why.

The Rev. Vieira received no specific answer at this week's city council meeting on the question.

One commissioner, Mello Lazzario, who was in the audience, addressed the council saying: "I have told the council (on a previous occasion) what my reason was for changing my vote, and don't feel that I need to repeat it."

Neither the mayor, nor any of the councilmen gave the minister any satisfaction. Then the buck was passed to Dan Pass, the city planner, and Pass lowered the boom.

"I recall no discussion on this matter" (concerning why the vote was changed), said Pass. "However, the law doesn't require discussion, only that the chairman and membership (of planning commission hear all sides before making a decision.

Engineers Talk

BARTD Extension Details

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Consulting engineers Wilbur Smith & Associates explained in detail Wednesday just how the main terminal building at San Francisco International Airport can be altered to facilitate a proposed extension of the Bay Area Rapid Transit line.

But the firm did not give equal attention to such matters as where the money (estimated at between $90 to $140 million) would come from for the extension or what precise route the tracks would take between Daly City and the airport.

Questions concerning financing of the project were brushed aside by Ronald J. Fisher, a spokesman for the engineering firm, by noting this was not included in the feasibility study started one month ago at the direction of the S.F. Board of Supervisors.

Asked if San Mateo County had showed a willingness to participate in the project, San Francisco Public Utilities Commission head James Carr noted much of the facts and figures being used by S.F. for the feasibility study were originally gathered by the now-defunct West Bay Rapid Transit Authority.

Contact would be made with San Mateo County in the near future — perhaps within the month—S.F. City Planner Alan Jacobs said.

Jacobs noted that a joint powers agreement was now being drafted. When the agreement is ready, San Francisco agencies expect to sit down and discuss the matter with San Mateo County representatives.

Nothing concerning the pro-

The Civic Theater No Longer Exists

Art Guildsman Tells S.S.F. Council

The South San Francisco Civic Theater ceases to exist.

This fact was emphatically made known at last night's city council meeting by Robert Bridges, chairman of the city's Arts Guild.

The theater group apparently felt they could not effectively produce and carry on a theatrical program under conditions presented for use of Siebecker Center.

These conditions were imposed by the park and recreation commissioners, acting on instructions from the city councilmen.

Their stipulation was that the square dancers were to use the center three days, the theater group three days and one day was for juvenile use.

What seemed to be even more an indignation to the theater group was that the three days they were entitled to the center included the weekend.

Bridges, on Monday, informed the councilmen that he has been deluged with inquiries and suggestions for retaliatory action, even to the extent of petitions directed toward the councilmen.

"I can say," said Bridges, "speaking for the arts committee, that we do not feel that these suggestions, however well intentioned, will serve the best interests of the advancement of the arts in South San Francisco."

Negotiating Council Seat Vote By Jeff High AFT

Members of the American Federation of Teachers, Jefferson High School District Local 1481, is voting today by secret ballot to determine whether or not the unit should be represented on the district's Negotiating Council.

Bob Delzell of Terra Nova High School, president of the Jefferson AFT, disclosed Tuesday the vote was to be taken, with results to be known, hopefully, he said, by Friday.

The ballots are to be collected by AFT building representatives at each of the district's six schools and taken to Jefferson High School in Daly City for counting.

Delzell also disclosed that a district attorney's ruling now allows the AFT to make presentations to the Board of Trustees, a ruling Delzell said his organization would take advantage of.

He said that in the past the trustees, upon the advice of counsel from the county district attorney's office, had not allowed presentations outside of the Negotiating Council.

Delzell, who has taken over the AFT leadership just this year, said he plans to continue his campaign for reduced classroom size. He has been critical of recent district formula changes which brought about increased pupil-teacher ratios.

Pacifican Wins in Contest By Picking 13 of 15 Games

A Pacifica man is the third week winner in the Times-Post football contest.

Matsumi Tsusaki, 221 Lakeview Ave., correctly picked the winning team in 13 of 15 games and will receive two tickets to the Cal-Stanford game on Nov. 22.

Tsusake and two other contestants missed only the tie games played by both the 49ers and Raiders last weekend. Tsusaki guessed closer to the 49er net yardage than did the other contestants.

This week the football contest is offering $200 in cash prizes to a contestant picking all 15 games correctly. Additionally, a $50 bonus is added to the cash prize winnings of a home delivered Times subscriber.

Contestants are reminded that the contest deadline is Thursday midnight, October 9.

Cities May Be Asked To Pay for Stations

posed extension is "locked in" according to Carr.

As an example: The consultants' plans and sketches indicate four intermediate stations between the airport and Daly City—San Pedro (D.C.), Chestnut (SSF), Tanforan (SSF) and San Felipe (San Bruno).

Although the cities have in the past expressed their desire to have these stations if and when the BARTD line is extended, it was felt they are not essential and the line itself should be built first.

Fisher pointed out that if local jurisdictions later found the stations desireable perhaps they could build them.

The stations represent about one-third of the total $90 million cost of the line.

Carr was quick to explain that while "alignment C" was the most feasible of the four plans offered at yesterday's meeting, the study was not firm enough to such items as whether the line would be aerial along the entire 12-mile route, or if the intermediate stations would be included.

He likewise explained that proposed route 380 through Millbrae into the airport was not "locked in" although it was included in a scale model mockup on display.

The extension as proposed would connect to the terminus station in Daly City, follow the Southern Pacific tracks for some 7,000 feet, cross a short section of private property and follow the old San Francisco line 40 to San Bruno where it would jog to the left across San Francisco-owned property onto the airport terminal.

Was Southern Pacific receptive to the plan?, Carr was asked.

"That's farther down the line . . . we haven't discussed it."

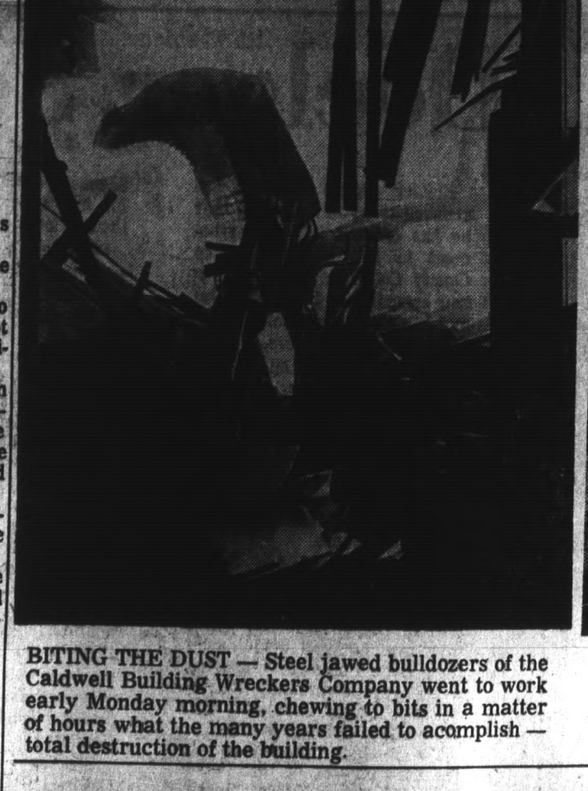
In order to push the track to the airport, a minimum 50 foot right-of-way is needed, engineers explained.

A proposed bus shuttle system would revolve around the so-called Tanforan station to the United Airlines maintenance building and the new TWA and American complexes.

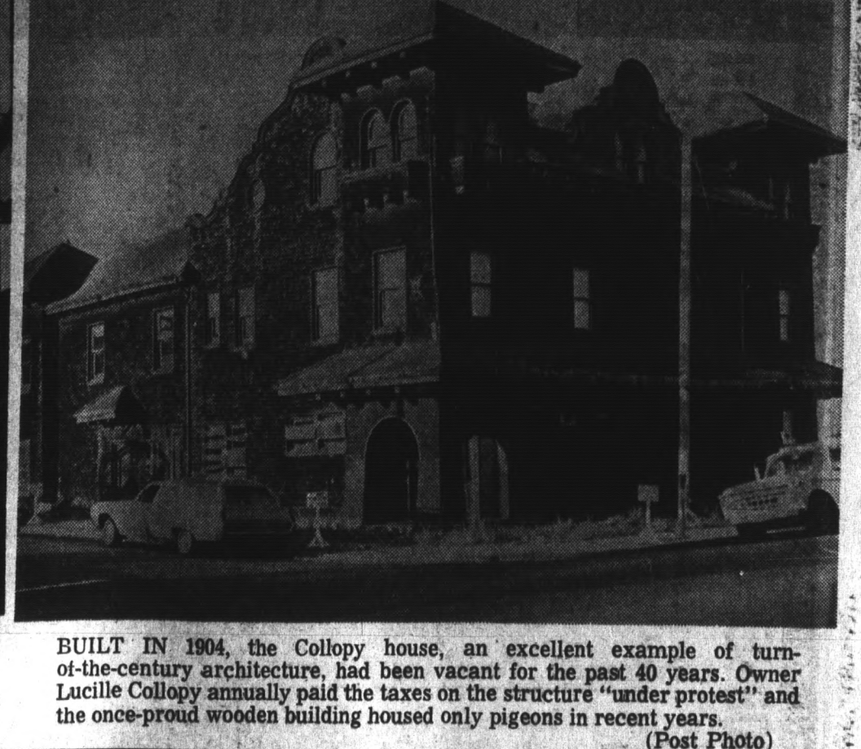
One of every three trains operating on the Mission line would go to the airport.

Patrons riding this line (to the airport itself) would be required to pay an additional 25 cent surcharge on top of the regular 65 cent fare between downtown San Francisco and Daly City.

If red tape could be cut, the system might be in operation at the same time as the rest of the BART system, a spokesman for Wilbur Smith & Associates said.



BITING THE DUST — Steel jawed bulldozers of the Caldwell Building Wreckers Company went to work early Monday morning, chewing to bits in a matter of hours what the many years failed to acomplish — total destruction of the building.



BUILT IN 1904, the Collopy house, an excellent example of turn-of-the-century architecture, had been vacant for the past 40 years. Owner Lucille Collopy annually paid the taxes on the structure "under protest" and the once-proud wooden building housed only pigeons in recent years. (Post Photo)

Doelger Announces Sale Of Coastside Holdings

ecutive vice president and general manager.

In 1958 he joined his brother, Ben, in Deane Brothers, home builders. Ben continues as president of that firm which is now a wholly-owned subsidiary of Occidental Petroleum Co.

Bill Deane, a Berkeley native, lived on the Peninsula and attended Foothill College before joining his father in the building business.

News of the coastside transaction comes nearly five years after Doelger's announced intention to develop his properties. However, a tight money market at that time forced delay of plans.

The first phase of Doelger's building program got under way a year ago at Princeton-By-The-Sea. A part of this first phase has been completed.

Recently, Doelger has indicated a desire to "ease up" and turnthe burden of the huge Coastside development over to others.

"We have found the people who not only have the resources to undertake a major development, but the sincere desire to create a fine community on the Coast," Doelger said.

Not involved in today's transaction are Doelger's several business and development interests in Westlake (Daly City) and Fairmont (Pacifica). Doelger will continue to own and operate his 3000-unit Westlake apartment complex as well as commercial properties in and around the Westlake area, including Skyline and Fairmont shopping centers.

Doelger said he will complete his 30-unit apartment building on Eastmoor Avenue and will continue to build other apartments in the area. Doelger enterpirses will continue with the staff which has been with him for many years.

All obligations undertaken in the Princeton-By-The-Sea development will be fulfilled by his organization, Doelger explained.

Henry Doelger got his start in business in San Francisco at the age of 10. He made $300 salvaging sash weights after the San Francisco fire. In his early twenties, after a night school education, he bought neglected areas of sand dunes along the San Francisco coast and started building homes.

In 1912, Doelger received several small Coastside building lots from his mother as a gift.

This was the beginning of an acquisition program that finally included the lands involved in today's sale. This year he will have completed his 26,000th residence.

More than 120,000 people in San Francisco and San Mateo County now live in Doelger homes and apartments.

youngsters playing in an old car nearby and had been left in the car, unable to get out, proved fruitless to the patrolmen continuing the search in their respective beats in the coastside community.

Young Danny is the second Peninsula child to disappear. Susan Nason, 9, of Foster City was feared abducted from the area of her home on September 22, and authorities have been checking every possible clue in that case as well.

Foster City authorities immediately conferred with Pacifi-cans, attempting to ascertain if there were similarities in the two incidents, when Danny's disappearance developed.

Captain Tebaldi said his division would sift through teletype from other regions in hopes of obtaining information that might be useful in the continuing search for the youngsters.

Pre-Algebra Course Given

A new math course, called Pre-Algebra, is being introduced at Westmoor this year. It was set up by Miss Jennie Gates and Vern Curtis. As Curtis said, experience has shown that many students going to Algebra 1 despite their strong foundation, need additional background in "New Math" as it applies to Algebra 1.

Most students who take Algebra 1 intend to go to college; for this reason the experimental course is offered this year for students who achieved a certain range of scores on the math prognosis test given two weeks ago in Westmoor's math classes.

Pacifica Case

New Trial Date Set in Slaying

Trial date for Carlos Lopez, 25-year-old San Francisco County Jail escapee accused of the murder of a 92-year-old retired Pacifica sea captain, was rescheduled for November 24 today by Superior Judge Conrad B. Reisch.

Request for the continuance was made by Lopez's attorney, George Eshoo, who said that he needed more time to secure witnesses and to prepare the case for trial, which was to have begun October 20.

Eschoo stated that the extended time should permit Mrs. Christian Pedersen, 74, widow of the slain man, to recover her lucidity, with a "good chance" she will exonerate Lopez of participating in the fatal beating of Pedersen.

Mrs. Pedersen also was severely beaten and remains in Mary's Help Hospital.

Lopez's co-defendant. Clarence Galindo, 18, is scheduled to go on trial for the murder on October 27. However, it was indicated by Deputy District Attorney Edward Pliska that Galindo's attorney, Dennis Woodman, intends to seek a continuance also and to seek consolidation of the trials.

Eshoo told the court he still is undecided on consolidation, but probably will not concur.

Eshoo also requested that Judge Reisch order the immediate return of Lopez to San Quentin State Prison, where he has been held since chewing portions of razor blades two weeks ago.

Eschoo complained that Lopez was placed in the county jail drunk tank when he was returned last night for today's hearing.

Sheriff's Deputies Richard Allean and Gary Actor, who were guarding Lopez, informed Judge Reisch that Lopez had become violent with the transportation officer when he was returned to Redwood City and that Lopez was not placed in the drunk tank, but in an observation cell for "problem people."

Judge Reisch said that he was not going to interfere in the jail operation and declined to issue any order.

The deputies indicated that there probably won't be any great delay, anyway, in getting Lopez back to San Quentin.

The Air Transport Employes' Union has become the first labor organization to join a chamber of commerce in the United States.

Local 1781 of the Air Transport Employes has joined the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce as its 200th member.

Local 1781 speaks for 8,000 employes at San Francisco International Airport, mainly employed at United Air Lines and Pan American.

"We must become involved in the community," union President Louis R. Schroeder said. "San Bruno, which calls itself the 'Airport City' has been very good to us."

"This is a precedent for all commerce associations," chamber Manager Christopher "Kit" Menkin said.

Heart Patient Attacked

A 55-year-old Daly City woman with acute heart trouble was raped and robbed at her home in a quiet residential neighborhood Saturday night by a husky intruder who fled the scene after tying his victim with a black nylon cord and gagging her with a piece of underclothing.

The hysterical victim finally broke loose and ran to a neighbor's home where she called police.

Police said the woman, who lives alone, entered her kitchen shortly after 11 p.m. Saturday and was grabbed from behind by the burglar who had forced his way into the home with a pry bar to the back door. She described him as a Negro.

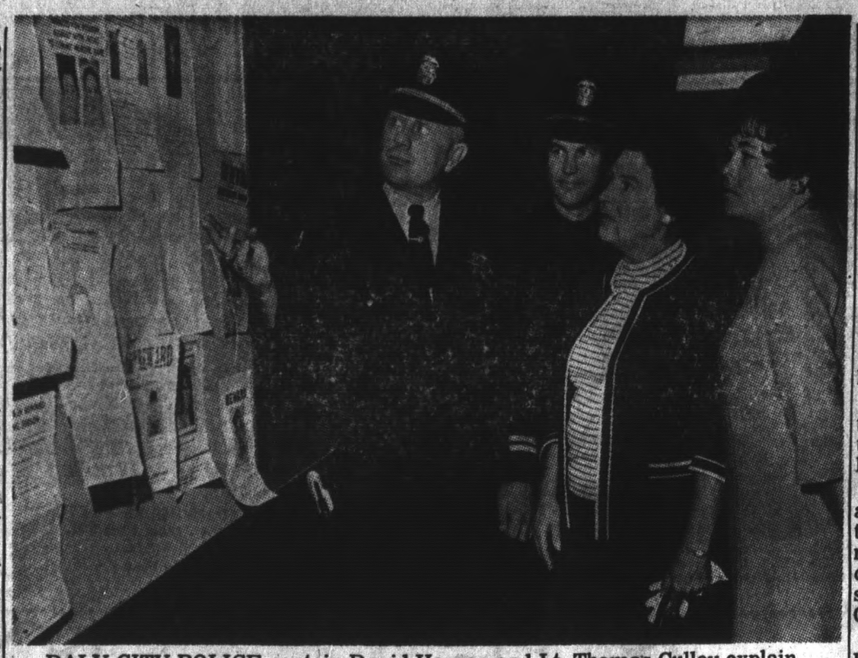
He threatened his victim by informing her "this is going to be a nightmare for you. I'm going to rape you and you better not yell."

He then forced her into a bedroom where he tore her clothes off and blindfolded the woman with a slip.

She begged the man to bring her a glass of water and her heart pills.

After complying with the request, the suspect threw her to the floor and subjected his victim to various indignities before raping her.

Before fleeing the home, the suspect grabbed $188 from the woman's purse from a bureau drawer. He next pulled the telephone from its stand and cut the wires, police said.



DALY CITY POLICE captain David Hansen and Lt. Thomas Culley explain some of the information to be included when Hansen, Culley and Sgt. Robert Staples discuss "Drugs, Your Kids and Mine" at the October 13 meeting of the Westlake Catholic Women. Listening are Mrs. Frank Lawson, vice president of the women's group, and its president, Mrs. Richard Galliani.

350 Friends Attend Farewell To Referral Center Chief

People from all walks of life bid farewell Saturday night to the Rev. Howard A. Bryant, former head of the Daly City Information and Referral Center, at a dinner in his honor.

Bryant recently resigned his post to return to seminary college in San Francisco.

More than 350 of his admirers turned out for the affair held at the Daly City War Memorial Building.

Speaker after speaker stood and told those in attendance at the buffet-style $3-per-plate dinner how Bryant has aided the city — especially the poor and sick — since arriving in Daly City in 1963.

Bryant, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, was instrumental in setting up various programs benefiting jobless youth.

Guest speaker of the evening, San Francisco Municipal Court Judge Joseph Kennedy, praised Bryant and called him "a man who has made a total commitment" to Daly City.

Kennedy said the times demand more from a man than staying at home watching "the idiot box."

"There are times that call for total commitment and Howard Bryant has brought this 'commitment' to Daly City," Kennedy said. "He hasn't said you must agree with him — he has brought this kind of service to this community."

"These are times that call for men like Bryant—times for men to stand up and fight," Kennedy said.

On July 20, 1969, the epic-making moon landing and walk was flashed over worldwide television—nine years after President John F. Kennedy vowed to [illegible] man on the moon in the 1960's.

"A nation that can do that, can find an answer to the poverty problem," Judge Kennedy pointed out.

What the nation needs, according to Kennedy, is a call for an all-out attack on poverty.

"Men like Howard Bryant can give us this voice. We need men like Howard Bryant—when we see sickness and poverty in our society," Kennedy said.

Daly City Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett was out of town on vacation Saturday, but conveyed his "thanks for your untiring efforts" on behalf of the community.

Councilman Frank Pacelli, representing the city at the function, called Bryant a "friend and brother" and noted that his stay in the city "has not been a bed of roses."

"But we have always been able to communicate . . . as friends and brothers," Pacelli said.

REVEREND BRYANT

Youth heaped priase on the departing Reverend Bryant.

Miss Madalene Norman, completely unprepared for the speech, stood and called Bryant "the youngest old man we kids know." She explained how the reverend has participated in youth programs over the years.

Floor Was Protected, House Burns

A vacant San Bruno home was damaged by fire today when a furnace ignited building paper spread out on the floor, San Bruno firemen said.

Thomas Nious just recently bought the house at 911 Fifth Avenue, San Bruno, and was repainting it prior to moving in.

To protect hardwood flooring, Nious had covered it with building paper, which also covered the floor furnace.

Sometime this morning the furnace—its thermostat was set at 60-degrees — went on and the paper ignited.

The flames burned portions of the flooring and spread to the west wall of the living room before a newspaper carrier discovered the blaze at 6:21 a.m.

The flames burned through the wall and through the floor ing around the furnace, firemen said. There was smoke damage throughout.

A fire department spokesman estimated damage would be "just under" $1,000.

The house was not furnished at the time and the fire was confined to the living room, since everything else was closed and locked, firemen said.

Intruders Beat Youth At Westmoor

Two youths were in custody today following the alleged severe beating of a 15-year-old Westmoor High School student on campus last Tuesday.

Daly City police said Rubin Hernandez, 19, of 688 Claridge Avenue, Pacifica, and George Ruano, 18, of 14 Hill Street, Daly City, were arrested some two hours after the assault on Dale Ciampi, 15, while still loitering around the school buildings.

According to police, Ciampi was on hall-monitoring duty and spotted the two non-students on campus. He asked them to leave the school grounds and they beat and kicked him.

The pair were charged with trespassing and assault and battery.

The victim was treated for bruises.

Quake Shakes Up Long S.S.F. Planning Meet

By BOB PETERSON

One man fell sound asleep Wednesday in his seat in the South San Francisco council chambers.

It's a toss-up as to whether the brief earth tremor at approximately 10 p.m. awakened him, or the continuing discussion before the councilmen concerning development of a portion of the Westborough area of the city.

Representatives of Caesar Callan Homes, Inc., including Michael Callan, met in a joint session with the councilmen and planning commissioners.

Callan was asked, and through his attorney, Ed Wynne, submitted a list of seven areas of disparity between himself and the city regarding proposed development.

The meeting, an informal session, took on more of a courtroom appearance as Wynne and City Planner Daniel Pass took turns presenting their points of view on each subject.

Briefly, they were:

Concerning a 10-acre parcel located generally on the east side of Westborough Boulevard. Callan asked for an amendment to the city's 1969 general plan to make this acreage a high density area.

There is a conflict in that the general plan shows the zoning to be low density when the property is in fact zoned for high density.

Pass, however, said he felt there is no conflict since the city is not trying to take the high density zoning away. "It was zoned R-1 in 1963, classified under R-1 in the general plan in 1963 and our recommendation is that it be used as a single family low residence zoning," said Pass.

The problem exists because between 1963 and 1969 a planned unit development was proposed, but never came to fruition.

The second area under discussion was a 33-acre parcel originally planned to contain 350 multiple family dwelling units. The areas, however, bordered near where the Junipero Serra Freeway now passes.

When the freeway went through, it gobbled up most of the 33 acres. Callan wa sasking if he couldn't continue to follow his original plans and construct the 350 units on the remaining property. He indicated the route of the freeway was not to have anything to do with his construction plans.

Pass, in turn, was seeking a pro rata reduction in the number of units. According to his figures, the freeway took more than 24 acres, leaving approximately 6 acres to contain the 350 units that were originally planned on the 33 acres.

The figures differed depending on who was presenting them, but Callan maintained that he was granted the right to the 350 units reardless of how much property the freeway took.

The third item involved two parcels containing approximately 43 acres in which Callan was asking a change from a commercial zoning to half commercial and half residential zoning.

Pass countered that commercial should not be located opposite residential zoned property. He said the planning commissioners felt three items—the 1963 and 1969 general plans and the site utilization plan—all show that the area should be zoned as residential.

The proposal, incidentally, has been before the commissioners two other times for request to a commercial zoning, and denied both times.

The area in question borders King Drive, Callan Boulevard and Carter Drive. Callan indicated plans for either a medical building or neighborhood-type grocery store.

Next on the Callan list was a question regarding the obtaining of a use permit to construct a service station at the intersection of Westborough and Callan Boulevards.

According to Callan, Texaco Oil Company has been in escrow for the past five years on this property. He indicated he would also consider changing sites of the station with the proposed location of the medical building or grocery store plan, bordering King Drive.

Pass ansered that in order to proceed with either of these plans, Callan would be required to show a need for the facilities. The questions to be answered are: Is it needed and desired by the people in the area? Are there not similar facilities available close by?

"There is no conflict here," said Pass. "When the need is there, the commercial use should be approved."

Item 5 on Callan's list was a request for changing a commercial zoning from light commercial to heavy commercial for the purpose of building a motel or hotel facility adjacent to the site of Westborough's major shopping area.

Although Pass said he hadn't seen any particulars on this matter he felt there is no need, nor desire, to go to a heavy (C-3) zoning. He indicated this zoning could encourage body and fender-type businesses which are undesirable in the area.

"C-1 (light commercial) is the only zone we can protect the public with," said Pass. "Under this zoning, everything must be approved through the planning commissioners with a use permit." He added that he left a hotel or motel would come under the C-1 category.

Callan did receive satisfaction on his last two items. He was told his security agreement would be before the council at their Monday night session.

S.S.F. Man Jailed In Felony Case

A South San Francisco man was arrested in Burlingame early today on a charge of felony hit-run driving, after he allegedly left the scene of an accident in which a passenger in his car was injured.

Christy Mark Crow, 23, 68½ Randolph Street, South San Francisco, was the driver, police said.

They reported Crow's car, a 1963 model, was traveling on El Camino Real at Ralston Avenue at 12:45 a.m. Just south of Ralston Avenue, the car left the highway, struck a eucalyptus tree, careened down the sidewalk for some distance, and slammed into another tree.

During the ride, officer said, David Blackstone, 20, 701 Bayshore Boulevard, Burlingame, was thrown from the car. Taken to Peninsula Hospital, he was discovered to have only minor injuries. He was released after treatment.

Witnesses said another passenger jumped from the car and ran into the darkness.

Crow was said to have gone away to a phone booth five blocks distant, where, he said, he phoned a girlfriend to report the accident. There were two lighted and open service stations within a half block of the accident, police commented.

When Crow returned to the accident scene, officers said, he was carrying a hunting knife in his hand, so he was also charged with violating a city ordanance against carrying a weapon with a blade longer than three inches.

Not Guilty Plea Told By Gellerts

Carl Gellert, Peter J. Brusati and the Golden Gate Advertising Agency, Inc. pleaded not guilty Friday to six counts of filing corporation income tax returns that were not correct as to every material matter. Carl Gellert is one of the two Gellert brothers who own and operate the Standard Building Company developers of the Serramonte area in Daly City. He and Peter J. Brusati, Secretary of the Golden Gate Advertising Agency, Inc., and Golden Gate Advertising Agency, Inc. were charged with overstating tax deductions on the Federal Corporation income tax returns of Golden Gate Advertising Agency, Inc. for the fiscal years 1962, 1963, and 1964.

SFS Pact With Schools

A student teaching agreement is once again in effect between San Francisco State College and the Jefferson Elementary School District.

According to the agreement, the college reimburses the school district at the rate of $5 per semester unit for the student teachers that are trained.

The student teachers complete two five-unit assignments in the district, five units each of two semesters.

Approximately 25 student teachers are involved.

Burglar Takes Office Items

A copy machine, adding machine, stereo unit and four bottles of whiskey, were stolen from the Ferrando & Company offices at 595 Parkview last week, Daly City police report.

'Luv' Skyline College Drama Department's First Staging

The Drama Department of Skyline College will open its first theatrical season on Thursday with a Studio Theatre presentation of Murray Schisgal's light-hearted satire, "Luv."

Directed by Richard Rohrbacher, "Luv" will be played for two weekends: October 9, 10, 11; and again on October 16, 17 and 18. All performances begin at 8:00 p.m. and tickets will be sold at the door. Admission is $1.50, or seventy-five cents for Skyline students presenting an ASB card.

As the leading comedy hit of the '65 Broadway season, and as an equally successful motion picture, "Luv" is an irreverent and hilarious spoof of today's self-conscious, self-pitying and, above all, solemn attitudes toward an essentially joyful and spontaneous emotion: Love, according to Schisgal who has suggested that "Love has become a commodity rather than an emotion."

He offers, "The sense of it ('Luv') is that the emotion of love has been perverted and misused to such an extent that it can only be defined by using another word which comes closer to what we experience, to what we think, and how we behave. . . . L-u-v is the perversion of l-o-v-e. I don't have the audacity to define the other."

Appearing in the Skyline production are Pat Donohue, as Ellen Manville; Allen Galli, as her (first) husband, Milt; and George White, as Harry Berlin.

Miss Donohue, of Daly City, is a freshman at Skyline and a graduate of Westmoor High School. Her acting experience is extensive and varied, including major roles in such Westmoor productions as "J.B." "Blithe Spirit," and "The Inspector General." She has also been a particioant in the San Francisco State High School Drama Workshop and, this past summer, in ACT's Summer Training Congress.

Allen Galli attended Serra High School and the College of San Mateo, where he appeared in Mr. Rohrbacher's production of "The Miser," last spring. He has also played leading roles with the South San Francisco Civic Theatre.

George White, a San Bruno resident, attended Capuchino High School. A sophomore and Drama major at Skyline, he too has had extensive theatrical experience. He has appeared in such shows as "The Birthday Party," "Inherit the Wind," "The Music Man," "Our Town," and as Willy Loman in Capuchino's production of Miller's "Death of a Salesman."

Although "Luv" is being presented in Skyline's Studio Theatre rather than in the main theatre — which is not yet completed — Drama Department Chairman Ron Widman has indicated that Studio productions will in no way be "secondary" rather than major representations by the department.

The Studio seating capacity is relatively small, 150 persons, but its design and technical facilities will lend themselves to any number of staging techniques. Until such time as the main theatre is ready for use, all of the department's productions will be presented in the Studio, and tickets will be sold at the door rather than by box office arrangement.

A Drug Talk For Catholc Ladies' Unit

The Westlake Catholic Women will meet in the parish hall of Our Lady of Mercy Church on October 13 following 8 p.m. devotions to Our Lady of Perpetual Help.

Guest speakers will be Daly City Police Captain David Hansen, Lieutenant Thomas Culley and Sergeant Robert Stables. Their subject entitled "Drugs, Your Kids and Mine," deals with the availability and abuse of narcotics by juveniles and society in general and will be followed by a question and answer period. TERRA NOVA TOPICS . . .

By Alice Reichert

TERRA NOVA SEEMS to have matured this year, as it is less concerned with the trivialities that caused rebellion and/or apathy last year and before.

For instance, the great "pants rebellion" of last year has become an accepted thing. All the noise made on the subject pretty much amounted to a waste of time. It was obviously not a cseless cause, since girls are now allowed to wear pants to school. Arguments made on both sides have proven unfounded. Claiming that pants were best in cold weather, the girls were still clad in pants when the sun came out.

Those opposed to the new school style claimed that there would be no respect for authority or for class order, and both of these allegations have proven to be untrue.

T. N. Tigerettes are simply more comfortable in pants at times, and sometimes prefer traditional dresses. This, among many new things, has shown both the maturity of determined TN students and the understanding of the administration that such trivialities are unimportant to the educational system.

THE ORGANIZATION for Student Action (OSA) met last Friday for the first time this year. The group was first started by Vice-Principal Richard Burt as an experimental project to bring understanding between the students and faculty, and to improve what members felt were unsatisfactory situations on campus.

Among the projects of last year's group were: extending lunch-hour boundaries; looking into the possibility of student counseling; arranging visits by such names as Nicki Cruz to speak to the student body about drug abuse, etc.; experimenting with ways to slow drug traffic in and around campus.

An S.O.S. To Good Cooks

Good morning, good cooks.

SOS!

A reader in San Bruno is looking for a recipe for Danish Elbeskiner. She writes that it is a delicious roll and is most anxious to find the recipe. Are there any Danes or fanciers of Danish baking among my readers who will share this elbeskiner recipe with us?

A friend called to inquire about the Boysenberry Snow Pie which appeared in Sugar and Spice last week. Her query? "Why do you strain the gelatin mixture?" Possibly some other readers wondered too.

By pouring the cooked gelatin mixture through the strainer you remove any lumps that may have formed during the cookng.

When you cook egg yolks and gelatin together this can sometimes happen. So if you are going to make this delicious pie, take my word for it, strain the gelatin mixture. It takes only a minute or two and it insures a smooth pie.

While waiting for some good cook to send us the recipe our San Bruno reader is looking for, I'd like to share some other delicious coffee cake recipes with you.

CARIBBEAN COFFEE CAKE

Filling:
½ cup brown sugar, packed
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 Tablespoon butter, melted
1 Tablespoon flour
½ cup chopped walnuts

Combine the half cup brown sugar with the teaspoon cinnamon, one tablespoon each, melted butter and flour and the half cup chopped walnuts. Set aside while you prepare the batter.

Batter:
½ cup butter or shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, separated
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1-third cup milk
1 large, or two small, ripe bananas

Cream the half cup shortening and gradually add the cup of sugar. Add the egg yolks, one at a time and beat well. Sift the one and one-half cups flour, the teaspoon salt and two teaspoons baking power together. Add alternately with the one-third cup milk to the creamed mixture. Mash the bananas and add to the mixture. Beat the two egg whites until stiff, but not dry, and fold into the batter.

Pour three-fourths of the batter into a well greased and lightly floured 9-inch square baking pan. Sprinkle the prepared filling over batter. Drizzle the remaining batter overall. (It isn't necessary to cover the filling completely.) Bake in 350-degree oven, 40 to 45 minutes. Or until the cake springs back when lightly touched in the center. Delicious served warm. Just as good cold.

MRS. DOLORES HEALY who lives in San Francisco sent me this recipe for a fancy coffee cake. Dolores is a terrific cook and very generous in sharing her recipes. Plus this she is a home economist, so when she recommends a recipe as "Very good and easy," I am eager to try it.

This Tropical Coffee Cake is just as she says.

TROPICAL COFFEE CAKE

½ cup undrained crushed pineapple
¼ cup brown sugar
3 Tablespoons butter

Combine the one-half cup crushed pineapple, one-fourth cup brown sugar and three tablespoons butter in a saucepan. Bring to a boil; boil three minutes. Set aside.

Filling:
¼ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Mix the fourth cup sugar with the half teaspoon cinnamon. Set aside.

Batter:
2 cups biscuit mix
¼ cup sugar
2 Tablespoons soft butter
1 egg
¾ cup milk
½ cup coconut, for topping

Mix the two cups biscuit mix, one-fourth cup sugar, two tablespoons butter, one egg and three-fourths cup milk. Beat vigorously one-half minute.

Sprinkle a bit of brown sugar on the bottom of a greased 9x9x2-inch pan.

Spread half the batter in the pan. Sprinkle the brown sugar and cinnamon over batter. Spoon remaining batter over this. Spread carefully. Pour hot pineapple glace over batter. Sprinkle with the half cup coconut. Bake in 400-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes.

This next recipe makes a super-easy coffee cake. This also uses a biscuit mix as a base with a jam filling.

JAM DANDIES

2 cups biscuit mix
2-thirds cup milk
2 Tablespoons sugar
½ cup jam
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup chopped nuts

Combine the two cups biscuit mix, two-thirds cup milk and two tablespoons sugar in a bowl. Beat vigorously for one-half minute. (If the dought is soft, add a little more biscuit mix.) Divide dough in half. Put one-half into a lightly greased 8-inch cake pan. Spread with the half cup jam (any flavor that pleases you). Pat the remaining dough into an 8-inch round and place on top of jam. Sprinkle with the quarter cup each sugar and nuts. Bake 400-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes. Cut into eight pie-shaped wedges. Serve warm.

THE WESTMOOR WHIRL

class officers were chosen as the class of 1973 participated in its first election at Westmoor. Filling the posts of president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer were Tony McClure, Janet Pierce, Don Noffsinger, and Bonnie Sparks, respectively.

Because it is their first year at a new school, freshmen have traditionally been unorganized for the first events. However, the class of '73 put up an inspiring sign for the football rally, bearing the feelings of all of Westmoor; its main message: "Beat Aragon!"

At their school orientation, the freshmen got the jump on the other classes by buying their student body cards at the orientation itself. They are presently leading the other classes with 51 per cent of the sales.

Many activities will come up this semester which will require good organization, strong leadership, but most of all, enthusiasm on the part of the freshmen. A majority of these activities will raise funds for the freshmen to be used during their junior and senior years. Some of the activities will include car washes, dances, and refreshment stands.

President Tonya McClure is hoping to be able to improve the dances this year, and lead the freshmen to a victory in the canned goods and clothing drives this Christmas.

The four newly-elected officers will meet soon with the ninth grade adviser, Mrs. Sylvia Segal, to lay the groundwork for future activities.

RESPONSIBLE FOR PRESS RELEASES emanating from Westmoor High School for the '69-'70 school year is Press Bureau Editor Paul Reynolds.

Paul, who is a senior and a second year journalism student, was drafted into school newspaper work last year because of his cartooning ability. This 6'5" senior is first string center on the varsity basketball team. Not only does he play sports, but he also has been writing sports stories as well as news stories.

JUNIOR RICHARD CARDERA has been re-elected by his fellow classmates to the office of class president for a second term. Rounding out the junior class executive board will be Patty Lucia, vice president; Linda Balanesi, secretary; and Shelly Baba, treasurer.

Besides his class duties, Rich finds time to be actively involved in sports, as during the fall sports season he plays guard on the varsity football team and during the spring he is catcher on the Ram baseball squad.

Running for the first time Patty Lucia and Shelly Baba were elected to their posts, but they feel they are bringing a novices enthusiasm to their position. Linda Balanesi succeeded in getting the secretary job on her second try. Jumping right into activities, the class, under its adviser, Mr. Joe Boscacci, sponsored an honorary breakfast on Friday, October 3, in the Westmoor cafeteria. The breakfast was designed to issue a "spirit call" for that evening's football against South City.

FEMALES DOMINATE the sophomore slate of officers for the fall '69 semester. Election results of September 26 found Cindy McGowan, harell Korbus, Michelle Sosa and Carol Edwards elected to the office of president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Among the many surprises the class has lined up is a mysterious new project to raise money, of which the class is in desperate need. Cindy is keeping it in the dark though it will be much different from the seniors' annual paper drive and more unique than a car wash.

Keeping track of the money and coming up with ideas to raise more is all part of Carol's job. A car wash is among her list of money makers. Carol is undecided concerning her occupation though veteranarian and teacher head her list. She also hopes to attend Davis.

Riordan Guild Meets Tuesday

Mrs. Gil Restani, president of the Riordan Guild, will preside at the regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, October 14 at 8 p.m. in Chaminade Hall at the high school.

Brother Ronald Dempsey, director of guidance and counseling at Riordan High School, will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. Milton Blank and Mrs. John Ortelle co-chairmen of the forthcoming Luncheon and Fashion show "Fantasy in Fashion" will give their final plans for the event.

PRE-SCHOOL EYE TESTS

The pre-school eye screening program for children, ages three to five, will be held in the southern end of Pacifica, at the Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 1165 Seville Drive, Linda Mar, on October 14, from 9 to 11 a.m. Contact Helen Minshew, for appointment.

The program in the north end will be held at the cultural room of the Sharp Park library, October 15, from 9-11. Contact Eulalia Sumpter, for appointment.

Pre-school eye screening is sponsored by the Red Cross for the Prevention of Blindness and the National Association.

Brown School Teachers Plan PTA Program

Parents of students attending M. Pauline Brown School have been invited to attend "Back to School Night," which will be held tomorrow evening, at 7:30 p.m.

The program, prepared by members of the faculty, will be presented in the classrooms and will offer parents the opportunity to meet the teacher and ask any questions regarding curriculum.

The new language program will be explained.

The annual school carnival is scheduled for October 24. Mrs. LeRoy Franzoia, chairman for the affair, will attempt to recruit interested parents to assist.

Refreshments will be served in the multi-use room, with Mrs. Tony Espeina, P-TA hospitality chairman and her committee acting as hostesses.

SENIOR TRIP

The Los Pacificans, a Senior Citizen Club, sponsored by the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department, will journey to Marine World October 16.

Webster PTA Unit To Meet On October 15

The principal, Mrs. L. Bostwick, will introduce her staff. She also will explain the new method of teaching English.

P-TA president, Mrs. George Zarubin, will introduce her executive board. The flag ceremony will be conducted by Mrs. A. McGuirk's Girl Scout Troop 1068. Following the meeting the parents will be able to visit the classrooms.

Coffee will be served in the multi-use room after the classroom visitation.

Daniel Webster's P-TA membership campaign will begin Monday, and will run through October 24.

Parents and teachers are invited to join. Membership award banners will be presented to the class with the highest parent enrollment.

Mrs. Robert McClay is membership chairman.

FANTASY IN FASHION," the Riordan Guild's forthcoming luncheon and fashion show, will be the chief topic under discussion on Tuesday evening, according to Mrs. LaVerne Calonico, the guild's publicity chairman.

The occasion for the mulling over of arrangements will be the regular monthly meeting of the group. Mrs. Gil Restanti, guild president will preside over the 8 p.m. assembly in Chaminade Hall on the high school's campus.

Mrs. Milton Blank and Mrs. John Ortelle, the co-chairmen of the luncheon, are preparing to give a full report on their finalized plans for the event.

Among the subcommittee chairmen who are slated to give resumes of their progress are Mrs. Ernest Winter and Mrs. Gus Masson, with their report on the reservations and Mrs. Vern Box and Mrs. Edward Glischinski who have made the investment arrangements.

Mrs. Walter Ihle and Mrs. William Feeley are excited about the bountiful and varied supply of door prizes that their committee has assembled and they will be ready to exhibit some of the items on Tuesday.

The completed list of models selected to wear the H. Liebes of Westlake Fashions will be presented by Mr. Stanley Kettell and Mrs. Ray Rinaldi. Mrs. John Ferguson has been looking over the gowns and is putting her commentary notes in order.

The hostess for the fashion show luncheon have been named by the hostess chairman, Mrs. Robert Gilson, and the printed programs have been the responsibility of Mrs. Margaret Pesce.

Musical background for Fantasy is Fashion will be under the direction of Brother Sam Lum, Mrs. Calonica reports.

Everyone is invited to attend the event, whether they have any ties with the high school or not. Interested individuals are urged to call Mrs. Winter, 664-3748 or Mrs. Mazzon, 585-3970, for reservations or more information.

THE ANNUAL POTLUCK dinner meeting of the Altar-Rosary Sodality of Good Shepherd parish will be held a week from today, on October 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall.

According to Mrs. Stanley Prowse, publicity chairman for the sodality, "Out of this World" is the theme for the evening, and for the dishes, all made from favorite recipes of sodality members.

Mrs. John Wynne is the dinner chairman and she has been assisted by Mrs. Lou Sanfilippo and Mrs. Paul Shipp the co-chairmen of the decorations committee. While the theme suggests extra-terrestial delicacies the color scheme will stick with patriotic red, white and blue.

According to Mrs. Prowse, all the ladies of the parish are cordially invited to attend. Anyone not on the membership roster is asked to call Mrs. Wynne, 355-3084 so that she may make arrangements to accommodate everyone. She will also be most willing to provide information to anyone inquiring about the sodality or the dinner.

MEMBERS OF THE North Peninsula Circle for Florence Crittenton home will sponsor a Christmas tique on November 29, according to Mrs. Thomas ci, Jr., publicity chairman for the unit.

Mrs. Eugene Crandall and Mrs. Jerry Stringer, the nd raising chairmen will be in charge of the event to staged in the Daly City Community Baptist Church.

Plans for the boutique were announced last week by Mrs. Charles Poggio, president of the circle, during the regular monthly business gathering. Mrs. Crandall and Mrs. Stringer have arranged for weekly workshops to prepare the many decorative items which will be offered for sale during the pre-holiday event.

Last week's gathering was held in the Hillsborough home of member Mrs. Arthur Coleman and during the luncheon which followed the meeting members caught up on the news of the past few weeks.

Mrs. Edward Odenthal and Mrs. Michael Orlich, the membership chairmen introduced new circle members Mrs. Mario Mangini, Mrs. Rose Franco and Mrs. Jack Elsdon, and everyone was congratulating Mrs. Donald Monson and Mrs. Paul Walters, each of whom have new daughters.

THE SUMMER BAR-B-QUE and swim party hosted by the Bocci's was one of the favorite topics of conversation during the afternoon and the smashing success of that event may have had some bearing on the fact that the Bocci's Woodside home was selected as the site for the annual Champagne brunch on the calendar for later this year. Mrs. Richard Cecconi and Mrs. Paul Gill will be the ladies in charge of the arrangements for the brunch.)

BOB SOUTHWORTH, assistant director, chuckles at some of the wierd sounds being produced by sound technician Berneice Olson in the Pacifica Spindrift Players' current production of "Portrait in Black," a mystery-drama by Ivan Goff and Ben Roberts now playing in Oddstad Center, Friday and Saturdays at 8:30 P.M.

Curtain Going Up On The 'Portrait'

The Pacifica Spindrift players will open its 1969-70 season Friday at 8:30 p.m. in Oddstad Center, Crespi Drive, when the curtain goes up on "Portrait in Black."

A mystery drama by Ivan Goff and Ben Roberts, the play is being produced through special arrangement with Samuel French of Hollywood and deals with the fear, blackmail, and murdering the Talbot household.

All of the action of the play takes place in San Francisco and the Peninsula areas. Nine years ago, Hollywood crews came to Pacifica with Lana Turner and Anthony Quinn to film its version.

The cast includes many persons with theatre backgrounds both amateur and professional. Tickets are $2, $1.25, and 75 cents for adults, high school students, and elementary school students, respectively.

To be seen in the cast are Charlene Amick as Tanis Talbot. Mrs. Amick is a veteran Pacifica actress and a member of Screen Extras Guild. She was last seen as Lizzie in the 1968-69 season's The Rainmaker. She was also in the movie, "Bullitt" with Steven McQueen, and is a past president of the Players.

Bob Lawson, a newcomer to Pacifica and to the Community Theatre Organization is playing the role of Dr. Phillip Graham. His experience includes East Coast playhouses and more recently in San Jose. An employee of the California Department of Highways, Lawson was formerly a script editor for television in Hollywood.

Playing Rupert Marlowe will be Prince Serrecchia. Although new to the Pacifica stage, Serrecchia is experienced having played many roles in high school and college. He is employed by Blue Shield Insurance in San Francisco.

The part of Peter Talbot will be portrayed by twelve-year-old Bobby Rigling, a student at Cabrillo Elementary School. This is his second stage role having appeared last year as Toto the Dog in Wizard of Oz.

Daly City resident Kurt Russ will be featured as Blake Ritchie in the thriller. An experienced actor, having played such roles in Hamlet and Antigone, Russ is employed by a furniture wholesale firm.

Miss Patti Cort of San Francisco is to be seen in the role of Winifred Talbot.

Enlargement Drive Starts at Westside

The "Winning With The Word" enlargement emphasis in the Sunday School is underway at the Westside Baptist Sunday School, Inverness Drive and Hickey Boulevard (Fairmont) Pacifica.

Newcomers to the communities of Serramonte, Pacifica Highlands, and Fairmont and Fairmont West, have been reminded that there is a class just for their age group at Westside.

Sunday School begins each Sunday morning at 9:45 a.m.

"A Worthy Cause" is the topic chosen by Pastor A. David Donnelly for the 11 a.m., October 12 worship hour message.

Special music for this worship hour will be provided by soloist Per Hillerstrom. Mrs. Roy King will be at the console of the Baldwin organ. During the Morning Worship Hour, a special primary church service for boys and girls, four through seven years of age, is conducted by Mrs. Jean Hernandez and Mrs. Rosa Donnelly.

During this worship hour, a nursery also is provided for babies and toddlers.

Three Youth Fellowship groups now meet at 6:15 p.m.; Junior Astronauts for boys and girls third through sixth grades; Junior High CYF for 7th and 8th graders; and Senior High CYF for High Schoolers. Then as of this month, there is a Girls Missionary Guild for girls of 2nd and 3nd grades in school which meets at this 6:15 hour.

At the 7 p.m. Family Fellowship Gospel Hour, the youth of the church will be in charge. They will take care of the congregational singing, special music ,and arranging the balance of the evening program.

On October 13, Junior GMG meets at 451 Glasgow, Pacifica, with Mrs. Gilmore Swanson, Marvin Allen and Dallas Dayton in charge. At the same hour, the Junior High GMG meets at 428 Glasgow, Pacifica, with Mrs. Delia McLean in charge of this age group. Wednesday, October 8th, Bible study hour of the church is today at the parsonage, 3370 Longview Drive, San Bruno, at 7:30 p.m. Pastor Donnelly will continue to lead the discussion of the book by LaHaye, "Spirit Controlled Temperament."

On Thursday at 7:30 p.m., the deacon board of the church will meet at the parsonage.

The Sunday services of the church are held in the auditorium of the San Andreas School, Inverness Drive and Hickey Boulevard (Fairmont) Pacifica. The church is affiliated with the Baptist General Conference.

Campus Ministry Sunday At Bethlehem Lutheran

October 12 will be Campus Ministry Sunday at Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Pacifica.

The Rev. Verlyn O. Smith, Western Regional Director for Campus Ministry of the Lutheran Church, will speak on "The Church on a Changing Campus" at both 9 and 11 a.m.

At 9:55 a.m., he will lead a discussion of the church and the problems of current campus unrest.

The Lutheran Campus Ministry is a program of teaching, pastoral care, counseling, and worship conducted on university and college campuses throughout the United States.

In most instances, this program is conducted in cooperation with Christians of all denominations. The Rev. Mr. Smith has the responsibility to coordinate this work in nine Western states.

Bethlehem Lutheran Church, located at 533 Hickey Boulevard, Pacifica, holds worship services each Sunday at 9 and 11 a.m., with church school classes for all ages at 9:55 a.m.

Nursery care is provided at the 11 a.m. service.

Snatch Purse In Daly City

A Daly City woman on her way home was the victim of a purse snatch at the corner of Evergreen and Mission streets shortly before 10 p.m. last Thursday.

The victim told police she thought the suspect had a gun, but did not brandish it.

U.S. Simonds Retires From College Board

U.S. Simonds Jr., the senior member of the board of trustees of the San Mateo Junior College District, announced his retirement from the board last week, and was praised resoundingly by trustees and faculty.

Simonds, who has served on the board since 1942 when there were 1,000 students, or 1-27th the number there are today in the district, said, "This will be my last (board) meeting. As you know my wife and I will be taking an extended leave of absence. . . . I wish to express my appreciation to not only the students but the faculty and the trustees."

The trustees cited Simonds in a special resoluiton noting his "unpaid efforts over more than a quarter of a century," and expressing its "eternal appreciation to U.S. Simonds Jr, its best wishes for his happiness in all the years to come, and its profound hope that he will never relinquish his ties with the district, its colleges and its people—that he will never forget them, for surely they can never forget him."

Wilson Penney, chairman of the faculty senate, said, "From the faculty . . . we have noted your honesty, your goodhumor and your sincerity. We wish we could erect some monument to you but you've already erected your own monument. We want to thank you and hope you come back to see us often."

Simonds, who was re-elected to the board four times by overwhelming majorities, elected to four terms as board president and the first recipient of an honorary associate in arts degree from College of San Mateo, will be moving to Fort Lauderdale, Florida with his wife, Marjorie.

RICHARD WEISFIELD

Weisfield's S.F. Store

Weisfield's, Inc., the West's largest retail jewelers, has entered the heart of fashionable San Francisco.

"Since 1917, when our firm opened its first store in Seattle," said company president Richard Weisfield, "we have gradually brought the finer things in life, which San Francisco is famous for, to 49 other communities throughout the entire West. We decided it was time to place our fiftieth store in this most cosmopolitan of cities."

The newest Weisfield's Jewelers is located at 103 Geary Street, one block from San Francisco's famous Union Square.

The initial display of diamonds, other fine gems, 14-karat gold jewelry and estate pieces, worth a fortune, the company said, is an exquisite collection intended to impress even the most sophisticated San Franciscans.

Other Weisfield's Jewelers in the Bay Area are located at the Serramonte Mall in Daly City.

We Hit a Nerve In Shutterbug Row

SHUTTERBUG DEPT. — My, we must have hit a nerve with that last column about local cameramen snapping school photos. The backlash came mostly from those P-TA groups that have gone outside the city to have their school pictures taken. Some folks claim one local photog "reneged" on a deal concerning the pictures, while still another woman insisted photos taken in the past were "terrible." But the fact remains, of the area's 21 elementary schools in the Jeff District, about half patronize local cameramen.

We asked for reader response and we got it! Boy, did we ever! In the exchanges (both verbal and written) it was brought out on two occasions that a small number of P-TA groups receive a sort of "refund" from the photographer.

In one case, the woman explained this "refund" amounted to either ten per cent of the gross figure, but not less than $100. The funds received are used to send children on outings, etc.

And while the overall picture begins to come into focus, our density is such that the question remains uppermost in our mind: Why the "kickbacks?" And if the product is so bad how come so many schools continue to patronize local studios?

JEFF HIGH DEPT. — Officials at Jeff High School are only slightly less scared than a handful of students who identified those teenaged shakedown artists operating at the school. Matter-of-fact, the students who fingered the packrats may be in for some sort of reprisal action.

School officials want to keep the troublemakers away from the school area until they have been properly interviewed by juvenile authorities. It's the same old story: The thugs have more rights than the victims.

Perhaps the P-TA could volunteer some of their time on the Jeff High battle line and stand around in key spots.

PROPOSED BOARD SEATING — Would the members of the Jeff Elementary School Board kindly do something about their atrocious seating arrangements?? Instead of sitting staring (admiring?) each other around a table, why in the world can't they face the audience like the council does? And it wouldn't hurt to check that public address system installed. No one can hear them talking—or is that what they want?

A Home Where 'Lots Of Hollering' Helps

By WILL E. THOMAS

"We have had some real, real productive successes that make you really and truly proud, because you know they have accomplished so much, and they are going to be able to survive!"

Matter-of-factly, Jane Powell — home counseling foster mother — was responding to the inevitable question, "What is it that drives you and your husband, Dick, to raise not only six children of your own, but three to four foster boys, as well?"

Totally immersed in it all, Dick and Jane Powell have had 42 foster boys and girls (boys for the last six years) in their home since they first became involved by taking a 12-year-old girl ("Twelve years, going on 40," is how Mrs. Powell recalls it), who was "destined" for Napa State Hospital.

They have experienced both success and failure in their endeavor, but in unequal portions, inasmuch as the pluses are what have enticed them to keep open their five-bedroom Westlake home to youngsters who might not otherwise have any place to go.

Limitations

"Foster homes are limited," they explain.

Perhaps it is the shortage . . . maybe it is a sense of fulfillment when the achievement really does equal the effort — probably, there is a fine measure of each—that make it seem easy for the Powells to live with wall-to-wall kids.

"Every now and then you get a kid who comes through like 'gangbusters' — one that really shines — and then you think to yourself, 'If they don't have my home, well . . .'"

JANE AND DICK POWELL . . . foster parents. He's a Doelger Corp. policeman. She's active in a wide variety of youth-oriented affairs, a member of the Jefferson High School District Board of Trustees and chairman of the Daly City Parks and Recreation Commission. The Powells have six children of their own and, on the average, have had two to three foster youngsters in their home as well — 42 over the past twelve years.

Community-active and a doer with fantastic drive, Mrs. Powell enthuses, "It's really great to take a kid, do something and see everything turning out all right."

It's the satisfaction, she adds, of knowing the foster children spark their own successes.

"They have to 'cut' it," she explains.

"They have to throw the crutch away," her husband is quick to agree.

"Rap Sheet"

When the foster children arrive at the Powell home, they do so with a "rap sheet as long as your arm," and an unusual chance to make good a "second chance."

However, there is a Powell insistence that the boys "must learn that they did these things (on the "rap sheet," for instance); that no one else did it. You know, they were the ones who actually committed the crimes, and they're the ones who will have to learn not to do it again," volunteers Dick, who is a veteran Doelger Enterprises patrolman.

The foster children also will hear this from the Powells:

"We'll give you the place, the second chance and the help, all the help we can, but we cannot do the work for you; you have to do it yourself; you have to want to do it, and change."

Obviously, then, the Powells view rigid self-discipline as one high hurdle the delinquent foster child must hop to become, in time, a productive and hopefully reassured citizen after a childhood span of problems.

Counseling Not Fun

Foster parenthood, especially teen-age home counseling, is not fun; never was intended to be.

"No, it's hard work," the Powells emphasize.

They have taken but one brief break during their long association with Youth Guidance of San Francisco. Jane, for one, isn't the traveling kind. Raised in the San Francisco-Daly City region, she's content to give the "kids" her time and energy, and nearly every organization she's belonged to has been child-oriented.

The Powells maintain the rigor of it all by choice because they want an overlap in children:

Though two foster children may leave, for example, there'll always be at least one "veteran" still in the bustling Powell home.

"It serves a very useful purpose," explains Dick Powell, who was raised in an orphanage himself.

It's much like the old service bit: You know, the two-day recruit chiding the new-day recruit; remember: "You'll be sor-r-e-e-e!"

Powell admits the overlapping has provided "lots of problems," yet, he appears convinced there also "can be a lot of benefit."

Mail Order Diet

THE GRAPEFRUIT DIET Publishers, using a Canadian as well as a New York address, are soliciting mail order sales of a diet book entitled "The Startling Successful Grapefruit Diet."

Advertising in the 20-page pamphlet states in part, "the new diet plan that lets you stuff yourself with foods that formerly were forbidden — such as steak, Southern fried chicken. rich gravies, mayonnaise, lobster in butter, bacon fat, sausage, etc.—Grapefruit juice acts as a catalyst — you stuff yourself on the permitted foods listed in the diet plan and still lose the unsightly fat and excess body fluids."

A series of so-called low carbohydrate "fat" diets have been offered to the overweight public during the past four years. Everyone with a real or an imaginary weight problem was talking about the Air Force Diet, Drinking Man's Diet and the Diplomats Diet.

However, both medical and nutritional authorities consider the low carbohydrate diet to be one which is potentially hazardous to health and nutritionally inadequate unless competently supervised by a physician or nutritionist.

FURTHERMORE, there is no scientific evidence to establish that citrus fruits, especially grapefruit, acts as a catalyst to exert some magical or biochemical effect on the body's metabolism.

A representative of the Florida Citrus Commission advised that the Grapefruit Diet Publishers offer was in no way endorsed or condoned as medically sound by the Florida Citrus Commission. The Florida Grapefruit Diet, for which the Florida Citrus Commission holds the rights, has been endorsed as a medically proven and sound diet which has appeared in advertisements in magazines and other publications.

Their advertising illustrates the use of Florida Grapefruit whenever citrus fruit is indicated in a well established basic diet.

Missing 'Old Days'

"THERE ARE TIMES when I miss the old days of the movies," wrote Hollis Alpert in an article in Woman's Day, "For I used to meet such interesting and fascinating people on the screen. They came along in a seemingly never-ending variety: the haunting mysterious Garbo; Joan Crawford with her intense problems; Bette Davis with her fierce emotions; the comradely and ladylike Greer Garson; glamorous Rita Hayworth; delicate, befraught Joan Fontaine; her ever-dramatic sister, Olivia de Havilland."

Clarence Sinclair Bull's "The Faces of Hollywood" is a nostalgic return to the old days of the movies and the stars that twinkled through them. Here are 331 pages of photographs by the man who was chief portrait artist at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios for over thirty years.

Bull approached his subjects as a psychologist or perhaps a philosopher at work. In commenting on his techniques he writes. "I never said 'Hold it' or 'still please.' The face did that when it matched the inner mood."

HIS ACCOUNT of his experiences with Greta Garbo illustrate his efforts to understand his subjects and picture something of her personality in the portrait that became the result.

His portraits of the Barrymores illustrate the inner moods he sought to capture. In John it was lust for life; in Lionel the great actor's marvelous control and training;" in Ethel the quality that made Billy Burke say, "You don't love and admire Ethel Barrymore, you worship her."

To footnote his pictures of Clark Gable, Bull quotes Vernon Scott. "He, Gable, played a man's man in a man's world as opposed to the Marlon Brando types who portray mixed-up, emotionally unstable weaklings."

Bull believes Clark Gable and Jean Harlow were the most exciting screen lovers of their times. As Gable as a man's man, Miss Harlow was a man's woman. "Aside from her unique beauty, Jean was the most completely feminine woman I ever had the pleasure of photoraphing."

AS A SORT OF BENEDICTION to his work with the stars of the "old days" Bull writes, "My camera sits quiet now. Only on special assignment does it catch any of today's beautiful faces . . . But how can you compare Harlow and Garbo, Swanson and Shearer, or Gable and Tracy with any luminary today? Maybe it's just an old timer's sentiment, but today's faces lack depth of feeling. Two world wars and many minor ones have almost changed the face of the globe itself. Why not our actors?"

Clarence Sinclair Bull was an artist and a philosopher. He became a photographer after the artist Charles Russell said to him, "Clarence, you're painting from your fingers. It must come from your heart . . . Why don't you get yourself one of those Kodak cameras and let it exercise your fingers while you work on your heart."

Reader Writes the Editor

Editor, The Post:

In answer to the citizens of South San Francisco, who are shocked and surprised at Police Chief John Fabbri leaving for the City of Fremont. They needn't be overly "concerned."

As one who diligently worked in his behalf, before and during his tenure as chief, I believe it fitting and proper that we all offer our congratulations and best wishes on his new position. For those who have worked closely with him, the occurrence is not inconceivable. Facts do not appear to support the inclination of economics. Police chiefs in bigger cities receive fatter paychecks.

However, a feasible explanation does stand out. "Can I do it on my own?" Evidently the chief feels that he can, with the help of his national reputation. He knows he did not become one of the youngest chiefs in the state without the support and extra efforts of certain individuals.

Much as anyone regrets the chief's leaving, the security of the citizens is not in jeopardy. As he has so stated, "The caliber of the department is such that a successor would not be difficult to achieve." I can honestly state from my experience that the caliber of the Police and Fire personnel in the city is such that no one man is considered indispensable. This has resulted largely from the excellent backing of its citizens. There are some who say that the chief's main assest is his ability to lead men. Others claim he has outstanding finesse as a user of people. He has always been a pusher of education. Having never passed a written promotional exam in his career, he realizes the importance of a college education.

However, be ye friend or foe it is only common courtesy to extend best wishes in his new endeavor. His future in Fremont will ne doubt present a challenge and the answers to questions that can only be obtained as chief of a large and growing metropolis.

For those, who may feel unduly concerned, there is the known factor that the levels of a city's Police and Fire departments are only as good as its citizens deserve. The people of South San Francisco have always supported their safety departments and there is nothing to indicate that they will not continue.

Good luck, Chief. We know that the weather and climate in Fremont is somewhat better, but for many of us there is only one South City.

PAUL TOGNETTI,
South San Francisco.

A 'Dear John' Letter to Chief Fabbri

By BOB PETERSON

This folks, is a "Dear John" letter.

But in it, we won't say goodbye, just so-long.

John Fabbri, we all know you soon will be Fremont's Chief of Police. If the residents of that East Bay city don't appreciate the caliber of man they're getting, ask them to call any citizen of South San Francisco. We'll guarantee they'll get the full "scoop."

We know you're taking this position because it is beneficial to you. Forgive us if we are selfish for not wanting to see you go.

Oh, it's not that we think the city will "fall apart' when you leave. We know there is an exceedingly great amount of talent in the South San Francisco Police Department.

It's just that, well, we like your style. Using some of the language youth uses today, we could say "You're a cool cat."

OF COURSE, there undoubtedly are those who don't agree. To some, you may even be thought to "rule with an iron hand." Maybe so. But as one resident put it, "I felt secure with John Fabbri and his department."

We know this feeling of security will remain when you leave. It has too. Because as another resident said, "It's not only technical excellence, but (their) attitude that makes them (your entire department) tops."

You've notched a fantastic record in law enforcement, and acquired a well-deserved national reputation for it.

But probably more vivid, and more well-known, is just plain John Fabbri, Chief of Police, City of South San Francisco.

Friday night you're going to be attending a banquet in your honor at the South San Francisco Elks Club. If the truth be known, you probably would rather stay home with your family. Not that you don't appreciate the gesture, only that you're "not big" on that type of thing.

YES, CHIEF, we're aware that you must attend many of these social gatherings, political functions or what have you as a part of your job. We also know that if you had a choice you'd rather be addressing a group of youngsters on the value of law and order.

The best compliment we can give you, we think, is that you're considered the type of man we want our son to grow up and be like.

Good luck, Chief.

Mateans Follow Portola's Path in Rediscovery of S.F. Bay

In the 1760's, Spain was concerned about Russian encroachment and fearful of english expansion. So King Carlos III decided to take possession of a New World claim, Alta California, by establishing mission-presidios at San Diego and Monterey Bays.

He commissioned Captain Gaspar de Portola, governor of Baja, California, and a distinguished professional soldier, and Father Junipero Serra, a dedicated Franciscan missionary, for this purpose.

While Serra stayed in San Diego to establish the first of his missions, Portola and his ponderous, slow-moving caravan of 62 men, two hundred horses and mules edged northward.

The party was forced to turn sharply inland to the Salinas Valley when they came upon the Santa Lucia mountains, located about 40 miles south of Monterey. By the time they had found a path back to the coast, they were unable to recognize Monterey Bay and continued north.

As a result, on November 4, 1769, Portola and his men stood atop of what is now Sweeney Ridge in Pacifica and saw the Pacific Ocean on one side and San Francisco Bay on the other. In terms of the destiny of the western portion of the North American continent they had achieved the expedition's most important triumph.

By BOB PETERSON

I have to hand it to Gaspar de Portola.

How many people do you know who would be willing to walk from San Diego to San Francisco Bay

Some people today can't even sit still for the eight to ten hour vehicle ride. A few even balk at the one or two hour airplane flight.

But that cat Portola! He took the 500-mile hike in stride in about four months.

The San Mateo County Historical Association has done a superb job of recreating Portola's path as he moved on up through what is now San Mateo County.

Just this past Saturday the association sponsored a bus trip of the journey as a kick-off to the 200th anniversary of the Portola Expedition.

"We're taking it a month early so we don't run into one problem Portola had — rain," said Leslie O. Merrill, director of the County Historical Museum, which is connected with the historical association.

Incidentally, the enthusiasm coordination, and expertise of this man at times had me wondering if he wasn't Portola reincarnated.

But Portola did have his problems. It is difficult by modern standards to conceive of the physical privation endured by the Portola party.

And I thought about this, too, as I got nauseous from riding over the wheel-housing of the bus as it made its way slowly and jerkily along winding hilly roads.

Seriously, when Portola's group trudged on after passing Monterey Bay, many of the men were deathly ill and lashed to their horses. It was cold and foggy. They were drenched to the skin by chilling rains, and swelling joints ached. Food was in short supply, too.

For our party, it was a beautiful day. There was a strong wind, but a warm wind.

The worst hardship the bus riders suffered at the beginning of our journey from the College of San Mateo was a lack of a

'Hollering' Is a Big Help To Kids—Foster Parents Say

tions and temperament of the household.

Under those circumstances, "he likes to shine," Mrs. Powell says of the longtimer during the transition period.

"He knows all the rules and regulations, and he's sort of the leader," she grins.

Actually, the Powells expect the foster youngster who has been in their home for several months to lay it on the line:

"Boy, you'd better go by those rules and regulations, because God knows what's going to happen to you . . ."

It's effective, and Powell puts it well: "Misery loves company, and they will all learn it together."

The foster children accepted into the Powell household are "all disturbed delinquents," according to Mrs. Powell, and this alone creates a need for prompt recitation of the rules, like the one prohibiting foster children to smoke — anything.

"Now, it would be ridiculous for me to say that as soon as they walk into my house that they can walk right out the door," Mrs. Powell asserts.

"One thin part of their problem is lack of self-discipline," she advances.

Earn Trust

Once in the home, the child faces a two to three-month "crash course" in how to "learn to live like civilized human beings, in this society," she says, adding, "The are told they have to earn my trust and that I have to earn theirs."

The basics would appear simple, to begin with.

"I make very few rules," she says. "Most of them pertain to them only" — changing clothes, making beds, keeping rooms neat and tidy, bathing, brushing teeth; the whole "clean" bit.

She continues, "I don't want to have to tell them about it. It's up to them to know they hav to do this." Additionally, she expects them to arrive at the dinner table on time for meals. "I call them once!"

Rules and regulations! Just how they react depends on the individual, the Powells assert.

"Some of them just aren't going to do what I say," Mrs. Powell admits. "Some of them don't know what it's like to put clean sheets on a bed. Some of them are basically dirty — and aren't going to wash."

A LOT OF TALK also goes into home counseling. Discussions let foster parent and child alike know what the other is thinking, and is aimed at getting to know each other better. Both Dick and Jane Powell ("I talk with my hands," she comments, above) find the talks help them find the best approaches for guiding the children in their "second chance."

(Photos by Bob Burton)

She smiles, "They'll run the water, but they aren't going to get near it!"

GI Bath

Yet — in time, and not too long a time at that, it catches up with them. "After a couple of days," she offers, "you can smell what they're like, so, then we give them a GI bath . . . you get one of those and you don't do that again, you know.

In an attempt to glean compliments from the Powells, particularly Mrs. Powell, most of the children eventually will do their prescribed activities, like changing underwear and shirts daily, "by rote."

She's rigid, then . . .

"Yes, you have to be! You have to figure I have ten kids, and if I didn't have rules and regulations and I didn't stick to them, I could be overrun by ten kids," she explains.

By way of example, she poises this weighty thought:

Big Kids

"When you stop to look at Tom and Steven (two of her own large boys), the size they are (Tom, former CSM heavyweight wrestling champ, now at San Francisco State, 300-plus pounds; Steven, San Jose State freshman, a football standout at Westmoor, 245 pounds), and I didn't have any rules and regulations on how to take care of kids this size — and they were able to tell their father and me just anything they wanted to . . . anything that big: one swipe and we'd be 'dead'!"

This can't be "allowed" to happen, she emphasizes, for if the "other kids saw this, if the foster children saw this, there'd be no reason for them to learn to mind."

She adds, "If you're lenient with them — if I were lenient with the foster kids — and then I were real strict with my own, there'd be conflict all the time."

Each Has Goal

Progress is made, and sooner or later the relationship takes form of "belonging," Jane advances, "and they resent not belonging."

Yet, she says, "Each of them has set a goal as to when he will leave, and what he will do when he leaves — and they all know that eventually they will leave."

The youngsters settle in the Powell life and they become closer; communication is easier. During the first three months particularly the Powells have "long talks" with the new boys, for whom they have full responsibility.

Both Dick and Jane talk things over with the boys, as they do their own, to "find out," they declare, "what really and truly they wanted to do; what kind of goals they were going to set for themselves."

Advice is given, too: "If they didn't start setting some goals pretty soon, they would never get a chance to be what they wanted to be!"

Best the boys start with an education, they say, and "learning self-discipline, because the people out there aren't going to excuse you," the Powells reiterate.

"Self discipline is very important for everybody, I think," Mrs. Powell says. "You have to learn self-discipline yourself if you're going to exist."

Impulse Problem

Otherwise?

"Otherwise, you'd do anything, anytime, just on impulse, and that isn't any good," she feels because "people who do things on impulses usually have fantastic problems."

To hear them speak of it, "hollering" is also a vital ingredient in the Powell Life.

"I have yet to have a kid come back to visit us (the average length of stay is 18 months)," Mrs. Powell asserts, "and not tell us that one of the things they missed most when they left was our 'hollering' at them.

"They said this was very important to them, because they knew that we cared enough to holler, and they knew we were trying to get them to wake up and do what they had to do . . ." She explains.

The Powells look to "about five we can say, 'they really are producing." And that's above the average: "They figure that if one out of 20 gets something out of living in a family situation, that's good," the Powells declare.

Education Rules

Foster youngsters live with the Powells on an around-the-clock basis, receive counseling on behavior, education and other aspects of the Powell Life.

"We do the same thing for them that we do for our own kids," Dick points out.

"We plan for them the same way, whether they're going to be with us a month, or whether they're going to be with us the rest of their lives, or until they're 21 years old," he continues. Jane speaks, "We don't treat them any differently, and after the first two or three months they realize this."

And, too, Mrs. Powell reminds, "If they do something wrong, they're going to get hell, just like our own kids will."

The Powells are selective ogy in that they now take only boys, though in the first five years they accept only girls, until they became too great a burden and some of their activities too difficult to explain to young Powells.

All Creeds

Now, they take boys of all races, creeds and colors.

"We don't care what they look like," says Jane. "We're just terribly interested in how we can help give them a second chance."

Those given the "second chance" go to a foster home as part of probation.

"They've got to have some place for you, if you've done things (so) that you cannot stay in your own home, or your family does not want you in your home anymore" is how the Powells explain it.

This, naturally, has had an impact on the Powell family.

Says Mrs. Powell: "My kids have seen this for the past ten or eleven years. They know these kids exist. They know there are people out there who do these type of things, who have these hangups, that fathers can be alcoholics . . . horrible, horrible abuse . . . can beat them up with beer bottles.

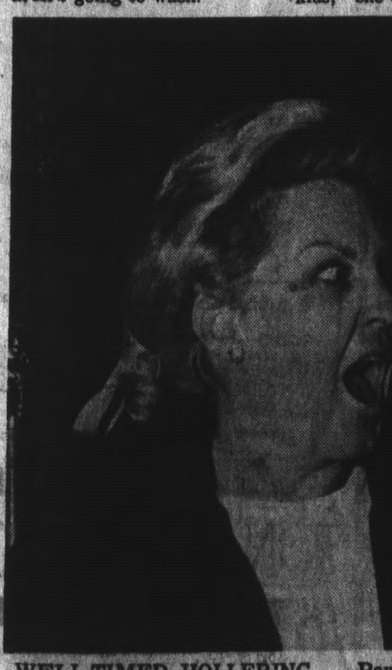
"We've had kids come in here with scars on their head and cigarette holes in their arms, scars on their legs. Parents beat them with such things as broken bottles . . . my kids know these things (and) even though they've geen smacked on the backside with a belt, no one ever took a bottle, broke it and beat them with it; nobody took a cigarette and put it against their arms.

While "satisfaction" just might be a nice word, it's not all that rapid in coming, the Powells acknowledge.

"Parents can't really feel satisfaction with any job they've done until their child is out producing on his own, without you there," according to Mrs. Powell, who is a Jefferson High School District trustee and chairman of the Daly City Recreation Commission.

"I think,' she went on, "parents, when their children marry, have even more to look at, because you can see how they are going to use what they learned from their families, and from outside, and you can see how they are using this with their own families . . ."

But between then, and now, there will be a lot of getting-along to do, plenty of smiles, an abundance of tears and plenty of hollering.



WELL-TIMED HOLLERING — Powell Style— is considered an important ingredient for successfully foster-parenting delinquent teen-agers. Mrs. Powell demonstrates . . .

BARBARA BLADEN

The hometowners had a look at the excellent work of their local ballet company last month when Peninsula Ballet Theatre performed to enthusiastic supporters during the Youth Arts Festival in San Mateo High School.

Now the company is preparing a super-whammy production that will bring them added out-of-town glory and increase the stature of the goup to where Peninsulans will be hearing of thier artistic endeavors via Sacramento.

"Summer Night" will be their vehicle and the first ballet choreographed by someone other than Richard Gibson, the company's ballet choreographed by someone other than Richard Gibson, the company's founder and director. Eighteen local dancers will perform in the October 25 performance, one they hope to repeat before Christmas on the Peninsula.

JOB SANDERS

JOB SANDERS, a dancer-teacher-choreographer of international prestige, was in residence here most of August, preparing the ballet he'd originally written for the Norwegian Ballet Company in Oslo, Norway.

"I'm often inspired by painters such as Paul Klee, Heironymos Bosch and in this case, Edward Munch. I first saw his paintings at a retrospective at the N.Y. Museum of Art and was surprised that no Nordic choreographer had done anything based on his work before. I mentioned it to the Oslo company and two years later they asked me to write a ballet for them. I had done another for the company, previously."

Sanders was born in Holland and danced with the Netherlands Dance Theter there and in their New York tour. He later danced wth the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and the American Ballet Theater before settling down to a permanent position with the North Carolina School of the Arts that boasts seven teachers on the dance faculty and 50 in the music department.

"Richard Gibson choreographed 'Adagio' for us and I saw two of his outstanding dancers, Grace Doty and Carmella Zegarelli (she is a young, lithe, brilliant dancer who will go far) and realized they'd be perfect in my ballet."

ALEC . . THE LEADER IN DISCOUNT PRICING SINCE 1961!

Mateans Follow Portola's Route

TOUR LEADER — Leslie O. Merrill, director of the County Historial Museum, served as tour guide.

FRIENDLY WELCOME —County Supervisor Jean Fassler welcomed the group at the Sanchez Adobe in Pacifica.

public address system, so tour guides had to shout above the roar of the bus motor; and there were no toilet facilities on the Greyhounds. At the first stop, Half-Moon Bay, both these problems were partially remedied.

Mrs. Grace McCarthy, Pacifica Councilwoman taking the tour, commented on how amazing she thought it was that so many people (there were approximately 150) were willing to get up early in the morning to follow Portola's footsteps.

I couldn't help wondering at that point whether Portola selected his party in the traditional military manner; "I want 62 volunteers, you, you, you . . ."

Another thing Portola obviously missed was a friendly native who knew his way about town. When our four buses stopped and people poured out, one Half Moon Bay localite asked from the comfort of his car, "Are you folks lost? Maybe I can tell you where you are going."

On Ocean Shore Road, almost a mile east of Half Moon Bay, we stopped at a site where Portola, himself, lay very ill, and where the expedition spent an entire weekend.

At this point, Merrill read a diary account of the expedition. He mentioned that about four miles south of this particular point, Portola's soldiers who happen to occupy, abandoned Indian huts were covered with fleas. Even though none of us got out of the buses, a few started scratching.

Merrill noted that Portola's expedition reported the area was lacking in wood and that they were frequently rained upon. Many men became sick.

"We know this was the path they traveled," said Merrill. "Their descriptions are so accurate, what with the way they mention distance, taking in Pillar Point and all."

So we proceeded north along the coast, taking much the same path once taken by Portola and his men.

Of course, my imagination was working overtime. The Pillar Point missle tracking station for Vandenberg Air Force Base, for example, led to the corny speculation that Portola could have used some guided direction.

Further up the beach we also went through Princeton, where Portola must have had an easy time walking along what is now Airport Boulevard. Past the El Granada Mobile Homesite, the equally ridiculous thought occurred that Portola and his men could have used that kind of shelter.

As our buses turned toward Moss Beach, Merrill related the story of how real estate entrepreneurs lost their shirts when the Ocean Shore Railroad failed in 1920. To entice people into the area, many new trees were planted. What kind? Monterey Cypress and Monterey Pine. Portola would have liked that. (Is this journey getting humdrum?)

Passing through Montara, Merrill pointed out that Portola and his group zig-zagged up the side of Montara Mountain. One bus passenger, apparently conjuring up visions of the trek, said absentmindedly, "I'd rather do it with mules and on foot than in this bus."

Portola and his men, incidentally, camped a short distance from what is now Montara, at Martini Creek.

When we stopped near the supposed campsite, one young man didn't seem to belong to our crowd. He was riding a bicycle. However, he, like the rest of our group, listened intently as Merrill read another part of the expedition's diary.

I asked the young chap how he felt living near such a historic site. He shrugged his shoulders, said, "It's my home," and rode away on his bike. Do you suppose that's the way the Indians might have reacted when confronted by Portola's men?

Regardless, Portola continued on his journey to a new campsite at San Pedro Creek. The Farollones and Point Reyes had been sighted, still there was skepticism as to the fact the expedition had by-passed Monterey Bay.

As we continued our journey, I asked one fellow traveler how he was enjoying the trip. He came back with an answer that could have come directly from one of Portola's men: "Fine so far, but I hope we find food pretty soon."

We enjoyed a nicely prepared box lunch at the San Pedro campsite, which is now Sanchez Adobe, in Pacifica.

Several of Portola's soldiers, however, apparently required more nutriment. They had been living on short rations and asked permission to go hunting. When they returned to the campsite, they brought news of sighting San Francisco Bay.

Portola and the rest of the party later advanced to the top of the (Sweeney) ridge where the leader supposedly unemotionally reported only that the group had traveled for three hours. All if it on bad road and when they had stopped they had no water to drink.

Our tour group undoubtedly showed more excitement than that, with the possible exception of our leader, Merrill, who deadpanned, "There was no excitement, no hallelujahs or raising of crosses."

It was thought he felt betrayed. I wanted to comfort Merrill by saying, "Hell, Portola had a vision of what shape this place would be in in 200 years and decided to try to keep it quiet that he'd ever been near it."

Portola's expedition then turned southward, following the valley that now contains the Crystal Springs chain of lakes. At an opening in the hills the party marched toward the bay and camped at present-day Menlo Park. Four days later, after it was reported impossible to get around the bay, the expedition in despair began retracing its steps back to San Diego, reaching home base in late January of 1770.

Our group, more exuberant, got back in the buses and proceeded to follow the road down the bay side, along Portola's path. We had problems, too. The lead bus got hungup on a hairpin turn, unable to go forward or backward.

This gave us all the opportunity to do the thing Portola and his men had been doing a lot of — walking.

When that San Mateo County Historical Association sets up a trip, they don't stop short of realism.

1. Select the winner of each game by placing an "X" in the box on the margin side of the team you think will win. If you predict that the game will end in a tie, place an "X" only in the column headed "Ties" between the two teams. If the game ends in a tie, credit will only be given to contestants who predict the tie.
2. Write the total net yards (rushing and passing) that you think the designated team will make in the box provided. (This estimate will only be used in case of ties between two contestants.
3. Clip and mail the entry blank to:

4. Entries must be postmarked prior to midnight Thursday of this week or delivered to The Times prior to midnight Thursday of this week. The Times is not responsible for entries lost, delayed or destroyed or which fail to reach The Times by 9:30 a.m. on Saturday.
5. To receive the cash prize, the winner must pick all 15 games correctly. If the entry does not pick all games right, then the winner will receive 2 tickets to the Big Game, California vs. Stanford on November 22. The previous week's contest cash prize will be added to the next week's contest if it is not distributed to a winner. In case ties cannot be broken between contestants by means of the tie-breaker, the prize will be divided equally. (This includes ties between contestants who pick 15 winners.)
6. A bonus of $50 will be given to each cash prize winner (not Big Game ticket winners) who is a home-delivered subscriber to The San Mateo Times or indicates immediate delivery of The Times is wanted. 10. Anyone may enter the contest except employees of The Times or immediate members of their families.
11. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decisions. All entries become the property of The Times, no answers may be returned. J and G Restaurant For Italian Food and Sports

It isn't the size of the restaurant that counts, it's the quality, service and hospitality that brings business and keeps it. The J and G Restaurant, where Joe Selmi and Guido Bianchina hold forth, may not have the largest dining area, but the Italian food, friendly service and family atmosphere are three big reasons for dropping by. Even if you don't know much about sports, and such, it's easy to get involved with the sports enthusiasm here . . . An eye-catcher on the menu at A. Sabella's on San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf: "A. Sabella's policy is to provide the finest quality foods at the lowest price possible, to maintain the highest standards in the preparation and service of your meal and to ensure your satisfaction." And this they do . . . Have often pointed out the superb appointments of Nick's Seashore Restaurant and The Moonraker, located on the shoreline of Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, but did you ever consider what a perfect spot Nick's is for a Sunday morning breakfast after a session of golf and before or after church? The menu offers all the breakfast favorites, and you're treated to the greatest view of the Pacific's rolling surf through picture windows.

LIMITED STINT — Petite Eileen Suyama and her trio of musical accompaniment, The New Trend, will appear in Nero's Nook at the Cabana Hyatt House through tomorrow night. They will be on stage nightly from 9 p.m. Pianist Bob Magnuson entertains at the piano nightly, except Sunday, from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m.

When you dine at Torres at Montara Beach, you dine amidst the traditions of Frank and Fannie Torres, who have been running their restaurant-hotel since the day it opened 19 years ago. Serving special Peruvian recipes, a variety of seafood dishes, and other menu favorites is part of this tradition . . . Noted on the Peninsula for outstanding festivities and the finest cuisine, Rick's Swiss Chalet in Palo Alto will be celebrating the annual Oktoberfest all during the month of October. A traditional Swiss-German harvest time celebration that dates back centuries, the Oktoberfest will feature live music and dancing during the month at Rick's Swiss Chalet . . . You can enjoy Sloppy Joe's at Augie's downtown San Mateo restaurant every Saturday during the lunch hour for just 25 cents . . . Chef George Valenzula of Maiden Lane's Iron Horse restaurant offers many tasty and different dishes which are the talk of the Montgomery Street crowd. Medallions of Tenderloin Garni and Filet of Veal "Cordon Bleu" are among the luncheon and dinner favorites. Join the after-work crowd in the cocktail lounge, where complimentary hot and cold hors d'oeuvres are served nightly.

Bill Caldwell, a member of Foster's executive Pancake House staff, says Foster's new Special Dinner For Our Senior Citizens, which is served from 1:30 p.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday, has caught on big. All you do is show your Eligibility Card — and the tab for the special menu is just $1.25. A different entree is featured each day, and served with tossed salad, vegetable, potatoes, roll and butter, jello, coffee or tea. Today's entree is Hamburger Steak. It's no secret now that Bodee Cominoli has returned to the Pioneer Hotel, Woodside. By the droves, her friends are stopping by to say hello and to enjoy the Cominoli hospitality of old. The Pioneer Hotel Saloon, as it is now known, serves just cocktails. Open daily from 4 p.m. to 2 a.m. . . . Cast your big orbs on the Rancho Black Rock advertisement (especially the part which says "Free Room" with this advertisement). All you have to do is purchase the package of this South Lake Tahoe resort motel and you're "home free." . . . We're long overdue for a dinner at the Fuji Sukiyaki in downtown San Mateo. Be on the alert, Dorothy and Bob, 'cause one of your favorite boosters (your Bright Lighter) will slip up to the counter this weekend for some of your Japanese morsels. Sorry the Giants wound up in the two hole.

Salon de Eleganza Owner Boosts Shadows

Helena Odette Torre is the attractive gal who operates the Salon de Eleganza and Boutique International at 1647 Tiburon Boulevard in Tiburon, and we give her the "full name treatment" because she believes San Mateo County has the finest restaurants. The Marin County resident says one of her favorite places for German food is The Shadows of San Mateo, with Dave Rasmussen, Chef Bill Mills and Manager George McCaman taking the bows. Many Peninsulans are patrons of Helen's exclusive Salon de Eleganza. After the plug she gave The Shadows, it wouldn't surprise this scribe if Rasmussen stopped by for a sideburn trim . . . Business people from all around have acquired the Bertolucci habit of fine dining during the luncheon hours. Larry Bertolucci and his sister, Lola Bogdan, serve a selection of Continental entrees from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily (including Saturdays); "men only" are served in the Mediterranean Room Monday through Friday . . . For something different for lunch, order item Number Two on the Inn of the Sixth Happiness menu. It's Fried Ravioli (handmade dumpling-like dough filled with pork and vegetables). "Our chef is an expert at pastry making," said Diana Chung, petite co-owner of this hospitable San Mateo restaurant featuring Shanghai food.

The Nevada circuit certainly gets plenty of action from the Licata Family, the backbone of Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant. They visit the territory like a relay team. First, Vince and his wife take off. Now son, Tony, and his family are on the Reno scene. It's reported that "Big Nick," Vince's head chef, and his Mrs. have been feeding their piggie bank for an up-coming invasion of parts unknown . . . Items of interest scattered through the lobby and bar area of Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City include a statue of Satan, a grillwork from the home of big game hunter Frank Buck, and a costume rack that once belonged to Diamond Lil. Mary Lou also takes exceptional pride in her collection of political campaign buttons. All in all, Scotty Campbell is an unbeatable dining place — it has the features of other fine restaurants, and much more . . . Gary Lee, popular keyboard artist in Stickney's Stagecoach Room, located in the Fifth Avenue Center Building, San Mateo, has a wide and varying musical repertoire. He is a difficult man to stump on requests, whether it's light classical, pops, show tunes or rock. He entertains in the cozy pianobar Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. Other entertainment on other evenings. . . .

A swarm of Italians recently dropped into Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto at Fisherman's Wharf during a tour of the United States. They told Augie Rosasco that nowhere had they enjoyed such excellent fish entrees — not even in some of the finest fishing capitals in the world . . . "Have gun, will travel" was the motto around Fred and Jerry Rapp's South San Francisco Holiday Inn this week. They hosted the Remington Arms Company dinner-meeting Monday evening in the luxurious Franciscan banquet room . . . We defy you to think of a song title that Margie Brandon, who performs Wednesday through Sunday nights at Baron's Lounge on Powell Street in San Francisco, doesn't know. This girl has more songs in her repertoire than even she can count or estimate. "If there is the slim chance I don't know it," adds Margie, "I'll adlib it." Now that's what we call show biz spirit . . . A reminder from Bruno Fava, host-owner of Bruno's Italian restaurant: with the holidays just a calendar flip away, now is the time to make reservations for your dinner parties and banquets. Special prices and entrees for groups . . . In the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery in San Francisco, dinner meetings were held by Steiner Manufacturing Company executives on two consecutive nights to introduce its new line of fabrics. The meetings were headed by Leonard Bloom.

Augie Rosasco

Enrico Romano, owner of Romano's Italian restaurant at Rockaway Beach in Pacifica, was born and raised on the coastside, and went to grammar school in Pacifica. He says he has never had any doubts about the success of his business, since he knows the area and it's people and the kind of pizzas and Italian food they want . . . There's an additional enticement coming to the menu now featured at The Cathedral, the unique coffee espresso in Burlingame. Jack Menzie and Chris Vlassis are planning to add a choice of steak entrees . . . Members of the famous Mexican Folklorico Ballet dropped into Finocchio's house of female impersonations, recently, to fill the air with "bravo" and "ole" as a former member of their troupe, Renee De Carlo, performed his dance specialty with his partner, Juan Jose. Parking Problems Hit Burlingame

The Burlingame City Council took up the question of parking Monday night, and very true to form, it soon developed into a problem.

The Council finally agreed to recommend a 72-hour parking limit in the city, in addition to directing the police department to handle the issuance of parking permits.

But the Council was not as successful in reaching accord on raising the overnight parking fee from $2 per six months to $5 per year.

After hearing comments from several individuals who recited Don Quixotish-parking battles, Mayor R. D. Martin recommended that local police issue a warning to overnight parking violators who were new residents. "It might improve the public relations of the police department," he suggested.

"Besides," the mayor added, "what you're worried about is the chronic parker."

But some residents wanted to know the reason for the parking fee, anyway. Others labeled the ordinance which prohibits parking without a permit on the street adjacent to property an individual may own, as being ridiculous."

Mayor Martin explained that "historically, the ordinance was to prevent pick-up trucks from parking on the street." But after the City Attorney ruled the ordinance couldn't only apply to trucks, cars got ticketed as well.

It was also pointed out the law aided street cleaning.

On a similar though unrelated topic, the Council unanimously approved four resolutions to give the green light to a new downtown parking district in the city.

The project, which so far supported by 50 per cent of the downtown property owners, according to Robert Thompson, who heads up the drive which was unopposed at the meeting, calls for the downtown owners to purchase several lots for parking.

The lots, which include the present city hall site, a site adjacent to the post office and a pedestrian pass from Burlingame Avenue to Donnelly Avenue parking lots, will "provide parking behind the hardcore downtown area," according to Thompson.

Back to School Nights at Sequoia

Parents of the more than 12,000 students of the Sequoia Union High School District will get an insight into their children's daily schedules when each of the District's six regular high schools holds its annual Back-To-School night Thursday, October 9.

In each of the schools, Carlmont, Menlo-Atherton, Ravenswood, San Carlos, Sequoia and Woodside, the format is basically the same with parents visiting with their children's teachers in the course of the evening.

The philosophy behind the system-wide program is that the instructional process is likely to be more effective if parents have a basic understanding of what their children are being taught, the teaching methods, and the materials being used for instruction.

Throughout the system, parents will follow their children's schedules, holding abbreviated sessions with each teacher.

Carlmont High School's program will differ greatly from that of the other school's because of the school's flexible scheduling. Since no student attends all of his week's classes on any given day, parents will meet the teachers in designated classrooms during the evening. The program will open with a meeting in the gymnasium, at which Principal Ivan Griffin and Dr. Jim Bradshaw, faculty senate president, will discuss innovations and programs, and the progress and problems brought about by the flexible scheduling.

At Menlo-Atherton, the evening will begin with a brief meeting in J Building at 7:15 p.m., at which time new staff members will be introduced. A short program with music by the Choraliers and orchestra will follow. At the conclusion of the program, each parent will follow his child's schedule of classes, with each class period lasting for ten minutes. Student guides will assist the parents in their journey through the class schedule. The evening is slated to end at 9:45 p.m.

Back-to-School Night at Ravenswood will offer parents a chance to meet the faculty, many of whom are new to the school this year. The evening will begin with a meeting chaired by Principal Earl Meneweather and P-TA officers in J Building at 7:30. During the lunch period, members of the freshman class will sell refreshments in the snack bar.

At San Carlos, parents will go directly to their children's first-period classrooms, where they will be given their "class schedules." Each class will last fifteen minutes, and during "free periods" parents are urged to meet with counselors and teachers on an informal basis in the school's multi-use room. The evening will end at 9:30. Parents will be guided through the schedule by members of the San Carlos Hostesses.

Parents of Sequoia pupils will have received their children's class schedules in a mailing from the Parent-Teacher Association, and will follow the schedules to 10-minute classes, with a slightly longer lunch period during which the Girls' Block S Society will sell refreshments. The Sequoia Hostesses will guide the parents.

Woodside parents will meet at 7:30 for a P-TA meeting, and will start on their treks to the classroom at 8 p.m. The program will end at 9:45.

Old House Burned Down

Demolition workers were finishing up yesterday a ob that was started Monday night in the razing of a 100-year-old home on the Beltramo estate at 177 Glenwood Avenue, Atherton.

Razing of the house was scheduled yesterday in conjunction with re-subdivision of the estate into three home sites.

Monday night, someone set the house on fire, creating a spectacular blaze which could be seen for three miles, Assistant Chief Al Cleland of the Menlo Park Fire Protection District reports.

By the time firemen put out the fire in the vacant structure only the shell remained. The fire was reported shortly before 10:30 p.m. and obviously had been set, Cleland said.

If the home had been in use the fire loss to the building probably would have amounted to $20,000, he stated.

JONNY MOP — The best way to do the worst job in the house—toilet-bowl cleaner

Since the Coastal Indian Days, Seafood Has Been Essential in Far West

The rich harvest from land and sea, in a section of the Northwest which includes the Pacific states of Alaska, Washington, Oregon and British Columbia, makes this one of the most important food and timber processing areas of our country.

Indeed it's hard to think of the Pacific Northwest without speaking of salmon and Western red cedar, for both are deeply imbedded in the history of America.

The Indians of the coastal areas lived in huts fashioned from Western red cedar logs, and salmon became their staple food. They greeted the first salmon run each spring with great rejoicing, and dried and smoked the salmon for winter use.

To these coastal Indians, salmon was as important as buffalo was to the plains Indians, and to this day the Indians in Alaska continue the practice of drying salmon for themselves and for their sled dogs.

The early settlers, who patterned their rugged lives after the Indians and adopted many of their habits, found both red cedar and salmon not only essential to their very existence, but very much to their liking. And the King of the sea and the King of the forest continued to run side by side like bright threads in the tapestry of our country.

Today, both salmon and red cedar are popular most everywhere. Western red cedar is used extensively for both exteriors and interiors of houses, for fences and for patio furniture, and the latest twist in popular interior decor is the use of naturally finished, saw-textured bevel siding, normally focused on the outside of homes, for interior dining room and kitchen walls, giving the mood of outdoor living and the great Northwest within the home.

Salmon, whether in fresh, frozen or convenient canned form is equally at home in menus the year round, served indoors or out. Like the obliging pig, which contributes to mankind every part of his body except his squeal, salmon is America's most valuable piscatorial commodity. Here are two salmon recipes from pioneer days in modern dress. Both are as delicious today as they were many years ago.

NORTHWEST SALMON CORN SQUARES

Serves 4

1 package corn-muffin mix
Egg
Milk
12-ounce can Mexican-style whole-kernel corn, drained
3-ounce can sliced mushrooms
1-pound can salmon
1 small onion, chopped (¼ cup)
½ green pepper, chopped (½ cup)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt, or to taste
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
Dash Tabasco

Prepare corn muffin mix with egg and milk, following directions on package; fold in corn. Spoon into a greased 8-inch square baking pan. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven for 30 minutes, or until golden.

Meanwhile drain liquid from mushrooms and salmon into a 2-cup measure and add milk to make a total of 1½ cups liquid. Set aside. Saute onion and green pepper in butter or margarine until onion is soft. Stir in flour and salt and cook, stirring, until mixture is bubbling. Gradually stir in milk mixture and cook, stirring, until sauce thickens and boils for 1 minute. Stir in mustard and tabasco. Flake and stir in salmon.

Cut corn bread into squares, then split each and spoon salmon mixture between and on top, shortcake style.

INDIANS FRIED SALMON BISCUITS

Makes 10

½ cup shortening
2 cups self-rising flour
2-3 cup milk
7 ¾-ounce can salmon
Salt and pepper to taste
¼ cup butter

Cut shortening into flour with pastry cutter or two knives until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk and stir rapidly with a fork until all flour is moistened. Turn dough out onto lightly floured board and knead gently for 30 seconds. Roll out ¼-inch thick and cut into 20 biscuits with a round biscuit cutter about 2½ inches in diameter. Drain and reserve salmon liquid. Mash salmon and season with salt and pepper. Spread half the rounds with salmon mixture, keeping mixture ¼ inch from edge all around. Moisten edge of dough with salmon liquid, cover with remaining rounds and seal edges well.

In large skillet melt butter. Place biscuits in melted butter, cover and cook on grill 4 inches from hot coals or over low heat for 10 minutes, being careful that the biscuits do not become too brown on bottom. Turn and cook 5 minutes more or until biscuits are cooked through. Serve hot.

Green Bean Casserole

Remember back a few years ago when the favorite vegetable for young brides to serve were baked green beans with cream of mushroom soup and fried onion rings? Boy, that was popular, and rightfully so because it was good. But like all fad foods it has aged and lost its place because of overuse.

This dandy green bean recipe, we think, will become as popular as the first. As a matter of fact it even shows more creativity because of the judiciously chosen flavor accents.

Try it and bake it in your prettiest oven-proof casserole.

Green Bean Casserole

2 (10 ounce) packages frozen green beans
¼ cup vegetable oil
3 tablespoons chopped onion
1 teaspoon flour
1 tablespoon water
¼ teaspoon grated lemon peel
1½ tablespoon chopped parsley
½ cup sour cream
Potato chip pieces
¼ cup grated Cheddar cheese

Thaw green beans. Heat oil in fry pan using high heat. Add green beans, onions, and cook stirring constantly about one minute. Cover and cook an additional one minute. (Note: Green beans should be bright green with crisp, crunchy texture.) Stir in flour and add water, pepper, lemon peel, parsley, sour cream and blend thoroughly. Line a 1½-quart casserole with 1-inch layer of potato chip pieces that are no larger than a quarter in size, this may take as much as 2 cups depending on width of base of casserole. Pour bean mixture into casserole, sprinkle with another cup of potato chip pieces and then top chips with grated cheese. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 30 minutes.

NOTE: Casserole may be prepared ahead of time, covered with foil, then refrigerated and baked right before serving time, but increase baking time 40 minutes.

Entertaining With Pears

Knowing that something to serve is usually on a hostess's agenda, it's nice if she can pass some of the responsibility on, a job that a convenient can of Bartlett pears can easily handle. Light and delicate, in a flavorful syrup, canned Bartlett pears come ready to relieve your entertaining flutters in a most flavorful way.

PLANNING PAYS

Impulse buying usually costs you more. Study grocery ads before making up menus. Once you've completed your market order, stick to it when you get to the supermarket, unless you are sure a substitution means a better buy.

Harried By Rising Prices? More Egg Dishes May Be Answer to Budget

More eggs may well be the answer to the homemaker harried by rising prices.

Eggs qualify in the meat group of the Basic Four Food Plan developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, recommended for a well-balanced daily diet. The daily diet should include foods from each of the four groups: (1) meat; (2) milk; (3) fruit and vegetable, and (4) whole grain or enriched bread and cereals.

Two eggs constitute the recommended adult serving, providing approximately ¼ lb. (4 oz.) of food. Even at today's prices these cost no more than 12 cents per serving at the average retail food store. One egg is the "normal child serving" but hungry, active, growing children frequently develop adult appetites years before they become adults.

Two eggs (large) provide 12.2 grams of protein, 11 grams of essential lipids, and only 154 calories. They provide 10 of the essential amino acids, 14 essential minerals in significant amounts, and all of the necessary vitamins except vitamin C — the citrus vitamin. This 12 cents — or less — of food provides 20 per cent of a man's daily protein requirement. And it provides the most completely balanced protein package yet known to science.

The importance of the necessity of a good protein in the daily diet, as well as the importance of eating at least three times daily, is now rapidly gaining recognition by both the medical and dietetic professions.

The "key word" in this recognition is hypoglycemia, meaning low blood sugar. From the medical evidence available this condition appears to show up with the "tired run-down" listless feeling, irritability, lack of concentration, headaches and even heart palpitations.

The "cure" is not more sugar. It appears to be a combination of more protein plus eating regularly. In the body, protein converts to energy more slowly than carbohydrates, thus eliminating the "hidden hunger" most frequently associated with under-fed, under-privileged who live primarily on carbohydrates and sugars.

Home economists and nutritionists for years have emphasized the importance of the basic four food groups and the necessity of spacing the daily food intake into three or more meals per day.

And eggs are the prime source of the best balanced protein — as well as the least expensive of all animal proteins.

Cholesterol appears to be a "big bogeyman" that causes many consumers to raise questions about eggs. While studies are inadequate on the number of families when someone is a target for heart disease, the current data indicate that this may be only five-six per cent of families. Even the Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association urges people to use "nutritional common sense" in diet selection and to generally get a diagnosis from a competent doctor before embarking on a system of self-diagnosis, preventions or cures.

The most difficult job a mother has is to convince her children to eat something "because it's good for you." Even adults resent this line of reasoning.

Even if eggs, or any other food, are both nutritionally excellent and inexpensive, they must be prepared in an appetizing manner.

It's the unusual child who eats the same cereal, or drinks the same kind of juice seven mornings a week. They may naturally rebel at fried eggs — or scrambled eggs — every morning. But, in addition to omelets, breakfast eggs may be served boiled, coddled, poached, baked or creamed.

It is still possible, even here in 1969, to eat: 1) nutritionally sound; 2) satisfyingly well as to puantity; 3) appetizingly pleasing as to variety of preparation methods; and 4) inexpensively as far as food costs are concerned.

Eggs are one of the few foods of animal origin that fulfill these four criteria for the harried homemaker beset by food budget problems in 1969.

Canned Meat A Shortcut To Cooking

Canned meat can mean a shortcut to cooking and clean-up chores without short changing the family. Containing the important nutrients of the meats from which they are made, these canned products are available in variety. Just take a look at vast assortment of ready-to-serve meats lining the grocer's shelves!

A meat expert points out that canned meats require no refrigeration and they make for fast work in preparing tasty lunchtime and supper main dishes. The following recipes prove the point.

LUNCHEON MEAT ORIENTAL

1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat, cut into ½-inch cubes
1 can (16 ounces) bean sprouts
1 cup finely chopped celery
2 teaspoons instant minced onion
¼ teaspoon sugar
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed mushroom soup
1 slice bread, cut into ¼-inch cubes
2 tablespoons butter of margarine, melted

Drain bean sprouts thoroughly. Combine meat, bean sprouts celery, onion, sugar, pepper and mushroom soup. Mix well. Place in a 1½-quart casserole. Combine bread cubes and melted butter or margarine and sprinkle on top of meat mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350-deg. F.) 30 minutes. 4 servings.

DESERT CHILI

3 cans (101 ounces each) chili (without beans)
4 cups corn chips
1 cup onion, coarsely grated
2 cups Cheddar cheese, grated

Open and heat chili. Crush corn chips. Place a third of corn chips in bottom of a greased 8x12-inch baking dish. Arrange half the heated chili, half the onion and half the cheese over the bottom layer of corn chips. Cover with another third of crushed corn chips. Add remaining chili, onion and cheese. Top with remaining corn chips. Bake in moderate oven (350-deg. F.) 25 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

CHEESE HASHBURGERS

1 can (15½ ounces) corned beef hash
1-third cup catsup
2 tablespoons pickle relish
¼ teaspoon oregano
2 teaspoons mustard
4 hamburger buns
8 slices Cheddar cheese

Combine corned beef hash, catsup, pickle relish, oregano and mustard. Split buns in half and toast slightly. Spread hash mixture on buns evenly covering toasted surface completely. Place on broiler pan. Place broiler pan and rack in oven so the meat is 3 to 5 inches from heat. Broil 6 to 8 minutes or until mixture is heated through. Place Cheddar cheese slice on top of meat mixture and broil 2 to 3 minutes or until cheese is melted. 8 servings.

Seasoned And Stuffed Pears

Cream together four ounces cream cheese and two ounces blue cheese until light and well mixed. Gradually beat in ¼-cup well-drained diced canned pimientos, ¼-teaspoon celery salt, ¼-teaspoon onion salt and one tablespoon snipped parsley. Stuff drained canned pear halves. Top with parsley garnish and drizzle with dressing of pear syrup, red wine vinegar and oil.

New Trial For Slayer Of Officer

Andreas Sedeno, accused murderer of a Daly City policeman, has been declared to have recovered his sanity after spending three years at Atascadero State Hospital and is scheduled to go on trial early next year in Superior Court.

Sedeno appeared before Superior Judge Conrad B. Reisch today to hear a report by psychiatrists at the hospital that the defendant has recovered his sanity. Judge Reisch scheduled a jury trial for January 5 and ordered that Sedeno be held at Agnews State Hospital pending start of the trial.

Sedeno, 35, is accused of shooting Policeman Richard Klass, 25, with Klass' own gun during a struggle May 5, 1966, when the officer chased the defendant after the latter escaped from the Daly City police station. Klass died during surgery on June 9, 1966.

Committed to the Atascadero State Hospital for six months after being declared insane, Sedeno was returned for trial in February, 1967, but was recommitted to the hospital in April of that year after battling sheriff's deputies in his jail cell.

Cycle Mishap Kills Visitor To Pacifica

A young airman from Hawaii, visiting his brother in Pacifica, was fatally injured Wednesday when he was thrown from a motorcycle.

Coroner's Investigator William Scott said Bernard Estores, 20, died at 5:30 p.m. while undergoing surgery at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City. The victim, an Air Force enlisted man stationed at Chanute Field, Illinois, was admitted to the hospital shortly after noon.

Scott said a fisherman, who was not identified, was fishing at Rockaway Beach in Pacifica at 11:30 a.m. when he heard someone shouting for help on the slope above the beach, a popular spot with motorcyclists. The fisherman investigated and found Estores sprawled on the ground, badly injured. He notified authorities.

It appeared, Scott said, that Estores was coming downhill on a motorcycle when the front wheel went into a ditch. The victim was thrown 40 feet through the air and the motorcycle came to rest 49 feet away.

The airman was on furlough and was visiting at the home of Larry Estores, 552 Esplanade, Pacifica.

Cab Driver Ends Up In Car's Trunk

When cab driver Martin D. Michael picked up a fare at San Francisco International Airport September 31 he had no idea that he would end up in the vehicle's trunk.

That's where he was at about 10:40 p.m.—and minus $39, too.

Michael, a driver for the Pacifica Yellow Cab Company, told South San Francisco police he picked up a man at the airport and drove him to the 300 block of Third Lane.

The suspect, according to the police report, told the cabbie to pull over, while pointing a revolver at him. "Keep your hands on the wheel" said the suspect. "I'm on a bummer." Police said the suspect then apologized to the driver for his actions.

Once the vehicle was stopped, the suspect, wearing Levis and a trench coat, told Michael to put the money on the seat and to get out of the cab and crawl into the trunk.

Michael obliged. His hollering, whistling and banging on the trunk lid finally brought passersby to his rescue.

The suspect was long gone. He was described as a white male adult, about 22 to 24 years old, approximately 6-foot-2, with curly brown hair.

Greyhound Bus Plan

Western Greyhound Lines will be used for pupil-busing purposes in the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Board members have okayed an agreement with the bus line in which the district will pay $28.50 per day per bus for six buses, which will not be used additionally for local field trips.

They will also pay $31.50 per day per bus for an additional five buses which will be used on local field trips. These field trips, however, are not to exceed 20 miles a day per bus.

Hells Angels To Prison

Two Heil's Angels were sentenced to prison on Friday after Superior Court Judge Frank W. Rose rejected the efforts of two county jail inmates to come to their aid.

Judge Rose imposed prison sentences of up to 50 years on John A. Giovacchini, 30, of San Francisco, and Robert T. Poulin, 22, of Daly City, after denying motions for a new trial submitted by defense attorneys Gordon Rockhill and Gerald Schneider.

The defendants were convicted in August of charges of attempted murder, kidnaping and felonious assault.

The motions for a new trial were based chiefly on the testimony of two county jail prisoners who swore that they were witnesses to the incidents in Pacifica in August of 1968 upon which the charges were based.

The defendants were convicted of kidnaping one Charles Craner, because he welshed on a debt, forcing him to swallow a normally lethal dose of narcotics, and leaving him in a cemetery to die. He was discovered in time, however, and his life was saved.

The inmates who sought to help the defendants, Lowell D. Huddleston, in for narcotics, and Robert James Stewart, in for bad checks, signed affidavits stating that they were there at the time and that Craner was not kidnaped. The defense attorneys explained that they did not know the identities of Huddleston and Stewart at the time of the trials, nor did the defendants. Their connection with the case, the lawyers said, was learned "inadvertently and fortuitously" by the defendants during conversations in jail.

Low Bidder on Skyline

The S.M. Junior College District last night awarded the bid for the site construction of Skyline College to the second lowest bidder—which as a general rule doesn't seem like good business.

But the trustees were forced to eliminate the low bid from G. M. Labrucherie Company because the original bid was a clerical error. Matteo V. Fasanaro, Assistant Supt. for Business Affairs, said that where there is a clerical error on a bid, state law requires that the District be obligated by law to release the bid.

The new site construction bid award will go to Collishaw Sprinker Co., which had a low bid of $123,456. G. M. Labrucherie's first bid was $99,312. But the estimate for plumbing was $1,800, according to Fasanaro, where it should have read $18,000.

In other developments, Chancellor Clifford G. Erickson said he had met last Friday with the presidents and treasurers of the Student Councils in regard to the student fund controversy.

Erickson said that We are working on the management of student funds and auxiliary enterprises.

SLEEPING GIANT AWAKENS

Westmoor Drops South S.F. And Topples N.P.L. Dynasty

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Sports Writer

After nearly seven years of dormancy, Westmoor's sleeping giant awoke Friday and broke the strangle-hold South San Francisco High School has had over league opponents since 1962.

Pulling the biggest conference upset of the decade, the Rams, with sophomores and juniors on the line and two powerful seniors in the backfield, blasted through the Warriors, 18-7, in the league opener at Clifford Field. With the absence of league competition throughout the rest of the year the Rams appear to have the NPL title already wrapped up for '69.

Westmoor, the last NPL squad to defeat South SF back in 1962, played a near-perfect game and the under-class linemen, both on the offensive and defensive line, simply outplayed the bigger Warrior blockers.

South SF	0	7	0	0	— 7

Scoring: W — Lewis, 1 r (kick fails); Lewis, 4 r (run fails). South SF — Bernardini, 7 r (Gard kick). W — Lieske, 1 r (pass fails).

Halfback Jim Lewis and fullback Al Lieske played as if possessed — both had tremendous nights and virtually matched each other year for yard in both breaking the century mark.

"It has been a long time coming," an elated coach Pete Matisi grinned. "We thought we might have trouble with them up front (in the line) but coach Bob Lotti has done a tremendous job bringing those kids along and tonight they were able to move South City all over the field."

So certain were the Rams of their ability to grind out the yardage not once did they punt. They did nothing fancy. Of the 54 running plays Lewis and Lieske ran 51 of them. Right tackle, left tackle — right sweep, left sweep. It was good, basic football. Considering the physical qualities of this particular game it was also noteworthy that no major penalty was called.

"They just were hungrier than we were, that's all," said losing coach Ray DeJong. "We didn't think that their line would be as tough as it was all night. We thought we might be able to wear them down but they were ready for us all the way. They played a great game."

It was nearly a complete turnabout from recent encounters — South City making the mistakes and Westmoor constantly applying pressure. With one exception, each time the Rams touched the ball they sustained penetrating drives and played excellent ball control with quarterback Mike Swallow passing just enough, six times, to keep the defense honest.

The first Ram drive ended with their only mistake when Lewis fumbled on the four after a 48-yard drive. The defense, led by junior Dan Proctor and senior Wally Kleveshal, stopped a Warrior drive and forced a punt. Starting from the Warrior 42 Lewis and Lieske alternated the Rams right to pay dirt when Lewis ended the drive with a one-yard plunge.

Craig Price then intercepted a Brad Brian pass, after a lineman deflected the ball upwards, and the Rams were rolling again from the 44. Five plays later Lewis ambled into the end zone from the four to put the Rams up, 12-0.

South City's one bright point came through after that when they drove 79 yards in 17 plays with tailback Leo Bernardini breaking three tackles to slide over from the seven. That touchdown was the first the Warriors had scored in the last seven-plus quarters. It was their last for the night.

Taking the opening kickoff after intermission the Rams did it again, marching 65 yards before Lieske bulled over from the one, ending the scoring, along with South City's 34-league game win streak, ended.

Coach Displeased

A Fourh Quarter Win for Tigers

Football coach Bob Fisher of Terra Nova is a hard man to please.

Despite the Tigers' impressive 22-12 come-from-behind victory over Serramonte on Friday afternoon, Fisher was far from impressed.

"Although it is always good to win, we are capable of a lot better," Fisher noted. "We are still making some of the same mistakes which we made out first game," Fisher added. He then went onto laud his opponents, saying that Serramonte "Is a fine, well-coached football team."

The victory moved the Tigers up to a 2-1 record and gave them a confidence base for next week's titantic with North Peninsula League rival Westmoor.

The upstart Regents shocked the veteran Terra Nova club out of complacency on the third play of the game when Steve Patch took a handoff and sped 57 yards to give Serramonte a 6-0 lead.

But the Tigers came right back with quarterback Bud Gonzalez engineering a 59-yard drive, capped by halfback Brent Ramsay's seven yard touchdown run around right end. Tim Lutz ran in the extra point to give the hosts a shortlived 8-6 lead.

DC Flyers Down San Bruno Rams

The Daly City Flyers Sunday defeated the San Bruno Rams, 25 to 6.

San Bruno's Dennis Grossman ran 40 yards in the first quarter for San Bruno's only touchdown.

The Flyer's defense kept the Rams scoreless for the remainder of the game.

In the fourth quarter the Flyers first score came on a pass from quarterback Phil Cuadra to end Grant Thompson. The second T.D. came on a quarterback sneak by Phil Cudra. Halfway through the fourth quarter.

Dave Healy recovered a San Bruno fumble and gave the flyers a good field position for Mike Crittendon to receive a pass in the end zone from Cuadra for the third score. The Flyers scored their extra point on apass to Grant Thompson.

The final T.D. of the game was scored on a 90-yard run by Orrin Patrick.

The flyers defensive team also played a very good game headed by the front four Lad Long, Brian Lively, Terry Hunt, and Dennis Howe, according to Coach Jim Bird.

Deadline for Entering Bruno Contests Nearing

Time is running out for San Bruno area boys to register in the Punt, Pass and Kick competition. This competition, now in its ninth year, is open to boys eight through 13 and is absolutely free. They will be competing for 18 handsome all-metal trophes to be awarded during the local competitions which are sponsored by Turner Ford and San Bruno Recreation Dept.

Contestants will be compting against boys in their own age group in three football skills — punting, passing and kicking. Gold trophies will be awarded to the first place winners of each age group, silver to the second place winners, and bronze to the third place winners. There is no body contact and participating does not affect a boy's amateur standing.

Registration closes October 9, so all boys eight thru 13 are urged to go with their mom, dad or legal guardian to registration headquarters at Turner Ford or the City of San Breno Recreation Dept.

Everything is free and each boy gets a copy of the PP&K Tips Book which contains stories and tips by Don Meredith and Mike Clark of the Dallas Cowboys and Billy Lothridge of the Atlanta Falcons, and an introduction by Don Shula, the coach of the Baltimore Colts.

The local competition is scheduled to be held at San Bruno City Park on October 11 at 11 a.m. Local first place winners then go on to Zone and then, possibly, District, Area, Division and National contests where they compete for more trophies.

Also, all District winners go with their parents to Area competitions held in NFL team stadiums. The 12 National finalists compete during half-time in the annual NFL Play-Off Game in the Orange Bowl in Miami, Florida. They and their parents also take an exclusive tour of Cape Kennedy, the history-making site of the Apollo moon shots and the Air Space Museum.

Punt, pass and kick is a nationwide program that is sponsored nationally by Ford Dealers and the National Football League.

'Clyde King Is No Better Than Herman Franks'

By LE PACINI

ABOUT ALL THE 1969 BASEBALL season proved is that Clyde King is no better than Herman Franks.

We should have known it would happen. We had tickets to the 1965 World Series. We also had tickets to the 1969 playoffs. Did we have tickets to the 1962 World Series? Of course not (though we were later able to acquire them, at great personal expense.)

Actually, the Giants got a taste of their own medicine. In 1951 the Dodgers didn't fold, as many accused them of doing. In fact, they seldom lost down that stretch. It's just that the Giants NEVER lost. Down the stretch this year, the Giants won 21 of their last 34 games. But Atlanta won their last 10 (Ed. Note: This was written just before Atlanta and the Giants completed their seasons), 17 of their last 20 (two of those lone three loses came at the hands of the Giants).

HINDSIGHT MAKES IT EASY to dream of what could have been. What if the Giants hadn't lost their first three games of the season to the Braves? What if Marichal hadn't have blown that fat lead to the Mets in the ninth inning? What if they hadn't blown that six run lead to the Astros down the stretch? What if Jimmy Hart hadn't have dropped that fly ball against San Diego? (Sudden thought. If Jummy Ray Hart played quarterback for the 49ers and John Brodie played left field for the Giants, it wouldn't make any difference to either team.)

But then other teams blew big leads during the season, some to the Giants, and other outfielders dropped fly balls. It's just that the Braves did it less than anybody else. Over the course of a 162 game season, the best team almost always wins. If Giant outfileders dropped fly balls and catchers set passed ball records, then the Giants didn't deserve to win. Defense, as usual, was their weakness, and that's what they're going to have to shore up or they can't and shouldn't be a World Series candidate.

Emotion aside, the Giants actually did a miraculous thing in placing second. Aside from San Diego they may have had the worst team in the Western Division.

Think about it. They had two pitchers, Gaylord Perry and Juan Marichal, and even Marichal was out for almost a month. They at no time had a consistent relief corps.

They had no catching. They had no third baseman, no left fielder, and a 38-year-old center fielder who was sick or injured about a third of the time and didn't have too hot a year even when he was playing, and they had a right fielder who set a strikeout record.

Their fabled bench really consisted of Jummy Davenport, when he wasn't injured, and of Bub Burda, a life-long minor league who fields adequately and hits .230 (To be fair, he did win several games with clutch pinch-hitting).

WHAT OR WHO HELD THEM UP? Marichal and Perry, of course, Willie McCovey, Ron Hunt when he could play, and Hal Lanier. Lanier and Perry, all things considered, were a lot closer to McCovey as the Most Valuable Giant than a lot of casual fans might think. No one can deny McCovey's great year, both offensively and defensively (and he even ran the bases well!); but he did miss quite a number of games for a Most Valuable Player. Perry never missed a start, Lanier hardly missed a game. (He did miss a week with that foot injury, but hardly an inning aside from that.) Lanier teamed with Hunt to make big DP's. Without him, there would have been chaos. He should get a bonus.

Bobby Bonds? He's a great athlete, but nowhere near a great player yet. He doesn't make contact. A man with his speed making contact could have driven in and scored perhaps a combined total of 25 extra runs this year, which might have made the difference.

He makes mistakes, some very bad ones. But this next Willie Mays is only 23, you say? He's entitled to mistakes? Willie Mays and Al Kaline and Joe DiMaggio were doing instinctively when they were 20 what Bonds may never think about. The true great ones don't have to learn, they know.

Fine athletes are a dime a dozen. Athletes with playing instinct, the one thing you can't teach, are rare. Bonds may be a better athlete than Mays was at a comparable age, but he doesn't have the instinct. We hope we're wrong, because the Giants are running out of Willie Mays', and that's bad.

WHILE IN OUR STUNNED STATE, which always follows the annual second place finish, questions race through our mind. Would the Giants finish runner-up in a field of one? Now that we have the divisional set-up with six teams in each division, what is considered first division? Third place in one divison? Or sixth place in either division (Six is half of 12, right?)? Is there such a thing, now, as a last place club, or a next to last team?

We think of all the radio and television sportscasters who harped all season on the significance of the "loss column." Wasn't the win column of equal significance? They said that you can never get back those losses. But if you don't win, you can never get back those wins, either.

We think of Poor Perry, who never got runs when he pitched well, and got blasted when he got runs. How effective was he really? Compare his record with Denny McLain's, who was recently, reportedly, handed a $90,000 contract (Ed. Note: These statistics were as the records stood several days before the end of the season):

McLain won 23, lost nine, Perry had a 19-14 record. They each pitched 316 innings, each gave up 280 hits, Perry walked 22 more than McLain did, but he also struck out 46 more. Perry's

'Clyde King Is No Better Than Herman Franks'

By LE PACINI

ERA was 2.49, McLain's 2.82. But Perry won't make a dime playing a Hammond organ this winter.

Then we have this other nagging suspicion. If batters can get fooled on pitches — and sometimes even catchers — why is it that plate umpires can never get fooled on pitches?

TAG END: They say it takes a big man to admit an error, so we guess we're about to become one of those — a big man, not an error. In our first annual baseball quiz two weeks ago, we asked what starting pitcher "has the major league record for the lowest single season earned run average?"

We answered that it wasn't Bob Gibson, as you might have thought; that he holds only the NL record. We said that the all-time record is held by three-finger Brown, of the Cubs. Right away that was confusing, because the Chicago Cubs have always been in the National League. Then, as it turned out, we discovered that the original Dutch Leonard holds the all-time record, which he set in 1914 with the Boston Red Sox (1.01). Three Finger Brown's 1.04 was second, Walter Johnson's 1.09 third, and then Gibson's 1.12.

Actually, though, Gibson, as far as we've been able to check, still holds the official all-time record, because OFFICIAL earned run averages weren't tabulated until 1920.

The figures on Leonard, Brown and Johnson came from the new "Baseball Encyclopedia," whose researchers went back through the old box scores and figured out all the ERA's for the ancient greats.

The baseball commissioner's office has sanctioned the book as the official record of major league baseball, but as far as we have been able to determine, the office has sanctioned no new records or titles based on the book's new findings. Which is all a long way of saying that we goofed.

Ram Distance Men Get 4th In South Run

Westmoor came in fourth in the recent cross-country meet at Menlo-Atherton.

Among the schools participating, Woodside came in first, Menlo-Atherton second, South San Francisco third and Campbell fifth.

Because of injuries sustained during the summer and beginning of the year, many good runners have been lost.

Dave Vasquez, an excellent runner, and number one man for Westmoor varsity, was injured earlier in the season, when he ran into a fence on the course.

The varsity now is relying on Kevin LaRock, Steve Malza, Bob Henry, Ken Kiler, Joquin Maria, and Joe LaBruzzo.

Richard Connors, cross-country coach, said the junior varsity is "doing very well," having come in third.

Freshmen are "doing well" for their first year. They tied Menlo-Atherton for first place.

Colts Break Slump for New Coach

Breaking out of a slump just as league play opens isn't a bad idea as El Camino found out on Friday. Today, because of that resurgence, the Colts find themselves tied on top of the standings with a 1-0 record.

Getting a sterling performance from halfback Brad Ingersoll and another fine effort from fullback Dennis Neil, the Colts, 0-2 before the game, got by Jefferson, 13-0, for the first win for new head coach Tom McCormick.

Scoring: EC—Ingersoll, 19 pass from Shannon (pass fails); Garcia, 10 blocked punt return (Ingersoll kick.

After a scoreless first half, the Colts broke loose when quarterback Joey Shannon found Ingersoll on a 19-yard combined effort. It was a beautifully executed fake draw to Neil and rollout throw to Ingersoll, who took it on the 10 and powered his way in.

The defense got the final score when a streaking Jim Tenerowicz slapped down an attempted Jefferson punt on the 15 and Dave Garcia gathered it in on the 10 and went in with little effort.

A T.D. Coming Up!

A Banner Year for Locals

By RON REID

Among the subtle revelations generated out of this Centennial Year of college football — like Ohio State is tough and San Jose State isn't — there is ample evidence to prove that San Mateo County is a great place to go shopping for footbal players.

Local boys, football variety, are making good on several fronts this season, perhaps more so than in any year since Gary Beban left UCLA with the Heisman Trophy.

Collegiate recruiters, take heed of the past weekend and dust off those letters of intent, posted Peninsula, post haste. There are some other youngsters coming up, you know.

For UCLA, Greg Jones of South San Francisco scored three touchdowns to lead the Bruins to a 34-23 triumph over Wisconsin. He also rushed for 145 yards on 26 carries and caught two passes for 52 yards. Jones is now tied with Bill Kilmer as UCLA's No. 6 all-time ball carrier with 1,386 yards for his career and can move up to No. 5 with but 66 yards this week against Northwestern. Greg also ranks tenth in scoring with 94 points. UCLA is 3-0.

For University of Pacific, linebacker Vic Ornelas of South San Francisco made 11 tackles, intercepted three passes and recovered a fumble in the Tigers' 36-3 victory against Utah State. His Peninsula-bred teammates on offense also excelled. Fullback Al Namanny (Daly City) scored two touchdowns and rushed for 78 yards on 14 carries while quarterback Mickey Ackley (another South S.F. product) passed 10 times, and completed five for 93 yards and a touchdown. UOP is 2-1.

At USF, tailback Steve Fegan, who toiled for Serra High School a year ago, blocked for the running exploits of teammate Marc Watson no less than 54 times in the Dons' 22-6 conquest of Riverside.

On other fronts, Mel Easley (Ravenswood) is contributing big to the unsuspected success of Oregon State; Ed Gulyas (Carlmont) has made Notre Dame's varsity without benefit of scholarship (a slight sure to be corrected) while Mark Andrews (Capuchino) is performing admirably for the Oregon Ducks at offensive guard.

Up at bucolic Washington State, Eric Dahl (Redwood City) has won a starting job at safety for the Cougars and should be one of the finest sophs in the Pacific-8 Conference this season.

At Santa Barbara, linebacker Dennis Ward (Serra and CSM) and offensive end, Paul Weinberger (Crestmoor), are mainstay starters for the 2-1 Gauchos.

All in all, it's already been a great season for Peninsula representatives, one which hopefully bodes well for those to

Sea Lions Win Awards

Despite the fact the Sea Lions have not had any swimming practice since August at Terra Nova pool, this was no deterrent at the Sunnyvale Blue Seals AAU "B" 'meet.

Laura Barrientos held her own, with her strong kick, splashing into first place in 200 Free with a time of 2:36.5. Miss Barrientos also took a second place in 50 Fly with 36.4.

Six-year-old Jeff Robinson won himself a second place ribbon in 25 Free with a time of 21.1. Not to be outdone, Jeff's sister, Juleen Robinson, in the 8 and under bracket, came in with a fourth place ribbon in 25 Fly at 21.7.

Kathy McGuire, in the 11-12 division, took a fourth place in 50 Fly at 37.2.

A Frosh-Soph Win for S.S.F.

South San Francisco Warriors posted two touchdowns in the first quarter and made them stick as the Warriors defeated the Westmoor Rams 14-6 last Thursday, on the Ram gridiron in frosh-soph action.

South City scored their two touchdowns on runs. One came following a Ram fumble. Westmoor's tally took place in the seciond period as fullback Ken Greene powered over from the two.

Westmoor coach Harry Weidner praised his boys, saying, "They all played well," despite playing without their first-string quarterback (Brad Kearns), the Ram squad didn't give up.

Cap Is Now Favored For MPL Crown

Capuchino, by virtue of a sterling, but losing performance, has inherited the favorite's mantle for the impending Mid-Peninsula League football race.

The Mustangs nearly pulled off the upset of the year on the ragged turf of Kezar Stadium Friday night, barely losing to state-ranked St. Ignatius, 13-12, in a practice game.

Coach Vince Marchi's game Mustangs outgamed the powerful Wildcats at nearly every juncture, but couldn't quite put the decider across.

Cap fans thought they had it in the waning moments of the game when quarterback Keith Hernandez took off on a 62-yard scoring jaunt, only to have the go-ahead touchdown called back because of a clipping infraction. Despite that setback, Cap still managed to drive down to the SI 20-year line with three minutes to go before yielding the pigskin.

Rick Hamilton got the Wildcats off to a quick start with a two-yard scoring run in the opening moments of the first period. The hosts made it 13-0 before the first period gun had sounded when Bob Stewart found paydirt on a 14-yard scamper.

Flag Football: Black Devils Wallop Colts

Colma Intermediate School's flag football league, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, entered its second week of competition with the Black Devils trouncing the Colts 46-14. Jim Aquino and Tom Liston provided all of the offensive punch scoring 5 touchdowns between them.

The Panthers recorded 2 wins and 1 loss during the week. They lost to the powerful Raiders 14-12 but beat the Colts 21-13 and the Black Devils 24-to 13. Pete Jurand, Darrell Ball and Paul McMorris provide most of the offensive punch for this team.

Long Winter In Store For Craig Brown

By PETE BARSOCCHINI
Post Correspondent

For Crestmoor High School football coach Craig Brown, the nights aren't the only things getting longer as winter approaches.

The affable young mentor is also suffering the mental anguish of a long, cold football season as his young Falcon gridders dropped their third contest in as many outings, 35-0 to Oakland Tech Friday afternoon.

Neither team scored in the first period, but the second quarter, third quarter and all of the rest of everything belonged to the Bulluogs as they took a 13-0 lead off the field at intermission, and lengthened it rather dramatically thereafter.

Oakland's John Lindsey personally sealed the coffin of doom in the third period as he scored one touchdown on an 80-yard run and another on a 45-pass play from quarterback Drake Gruner.

Three times during the one-sided rout the Falcons had to call a time out because they only had ten men on the field.

YOUR FUTURE

1. You could go to college—
One out of three high school grads do. Only one out of five complete school. Your cost will be a minimum of $2000.00 a year while you attend.
2. You could go into the service.
3. You could get married.
4. You could get a boring dead-end job, or stay in the one you have and hate.
5. OR — You could spend six to twelve months learning a specialized skill that will afford you ABOVE AVERAGE income the rest of your working life, plus prestige, travel and excitement.

WHAT TYPE OF SPECIALIZED TRAINING?

1. Something that requires no specific scholastic background or diplomas.
2. Something that an AVERAGE student can easily absorb.
3. Something that can be learned completely in twelve months or less.
4. Something that will afford you excellent income — THE REST OF YOUR WORKING LIFE in pleasant surroundings.
5. AND — Something — where a lifetime placement program assures you of assistance ANYTIME you need it.
6. Training that is equally suited for women, men, or handicapped people.

WHERE SHOULD YOU TAKE THE TRAINING?

1. Where you can get real financial assistance.
2. A school where you get PRACTICAL training with an outstanding instruction staff familiar with modern business and industrial practice.
3. A school that offers the very latest in equipment and techniques.
4. A school that understands the skills and attitudes prospective employers desire.
5. A school that makes sure you fit and the course is right for you! If at the end of thirty days or less the school determines that the training is not suited for you the school will cancel your enrollment application with an approved refund policy.
6. And finally a school where work, study, clean and healthy social relationships are of equal importance.

The only way you can advance and afford the things you wish outside of routine cost of living increases or regular salary increases is to improve your educational or technical skills.

SCHERBA'S AUTO STORES has now opened a new store in South San Francisco at the corner of Westborough and Callan Blvds. This is the 6th store that they have opened in the San Francisco Peninsula Area. Their other stores are in Menlo Park, San Mateo, Millbrae and San Francisco. (Post Photo)

'Intercepting' in H.M.B.

It may or may not be a commentary on the alleged drying up of the Bay Area drug supply through "Operation Intercept" or whatever, but a Half Moon Bay service station attendant on Sunday told police he had been offered methedrine and hashish by a gasoline customer.

Always interested in sales pitches of this type, police immediately put out a broadcast on the car, containing two male suspects, last seen heading north on Cabrillo Highway from Half Moon Bay.

Pacifica police shortly afterward spotted the car and stopped it on Cabrillo near Paloma Avenue. A search of the car by officers yielded a quantity of tablets and another substance, believed to be hashish. All was delivered to the sheriff's crime lab for analysis.

Arrested by Half Moon Bay police were Donald Mendonca, 20, 686 Skyline Boulevard, Daly City, a carpenter, and James P. Lacy, 19, 38 Belcrest Street, Daly City, a student, both on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs and Lacy also on suspicion of sale of dangerous drugs. Both were booked at county jail.

According to the attendant, Lacy was the one who made the sale offer. The attendant said no and called police after the two suspects had driven away at about 9:10 p.m.

Half Moon Bay police say also they have learned Lacy is on probation on a prior possession of drugs conviction in San Francisco.

Seek Parent Help In S.S.F.

Ponderosa P-TA is looking for applicants for that school's Block Parent program. Parents normally at home during the hours when school children come and go, may qualify to serve.

Block Parents are stationed along the routes children are most apt to be traveling. They are alert for suspicious strangers, speeding autos, street fights, and the injured, frightened or confused child. The Police Department trains Block Parents to handle extreme emergencies and is on call to aid in locating parents and give needed help in such cases.

"A Block Parent sign in your window could mean much to our children, reports Mrs. James Appel, publicity chairman. Write to Ponderosa P-TA, care of Ponderosa School, for further information.

Mateo Youth Is Arrested

A 24-year-old San Mateo youth was arrested in San Mateo Sunday night when police caught him inside an automobile repair garage.

William P. Lujan, who said he lived at the Peidmont Hotel in San Mateo, was picked up at about 11:15 p.m. at Oto's Automotive, 110 South Claremont. He was seen inside the building by the owner, Miles Oto, who called police.

Ring Stolen From Store

The broad daylight theft of a one carat diamond ring valued at more than $1,000 from the jewelry counter of the Montgomery-Ward department store at Serramonte continued to puzzle Daly City police.

According to store employees, the ring was in the case at opening time, but was missing when the store closed at 9 p.m.

Exercise For Women

A dance-exercise program has been organized for women only, by the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department.

The program will include the physical fitness and figure control exercises along with dance exercises. Anyone interested in better physical condition will enjoy the program of variety and fun while at the same time looking and feeling better.

Dance-exercise classes will be held at Sanchez School on Mondays and San Andreas School on Tuesdays. Class times are from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Registration for the six-week course is currently being taken at the Recreation Departmtnt office, 170 Santa Maria Avenue. Fee for the six-week class starting the week of October 6 is $6.

Burglars At Daly City Apt.

Burglars slipped into the Daly City apartment home of retired special police officer Darrell Cornell, 64, at 215 Park Plaza Drive yesterday afternoon while he was out and stole two cartridge cases, a .257 magnum combat pistol and a pair of handcuffs.

Value of the items was $150.

S.S.F. Planners Reply To A Minister's Criticism

South San Francisco's planning commissioners wanted to lock jaws with the Rev. Gilbert H. Vieira last Wednesday, but the minister wasn't in attendance.

Actually, Mayor Frank Bertucelli supplied the ammo to answer a blast made by the Rev. Vieira, of 4 El Camino Drive, in which he questions the planners integrity.

The minister had questioned the commissioners honesty and competency regarding their change of vote involving an application by developer William Botieff to build a housing complex on Carmaritas Avenue.

According to Bertucelli, the Rev. Vierra wrote the councilmen a letter in which he "suggested the possibility of some wrong doing on the part of our planning commissioners regarding the rezoning application."

"The city manager and I assured Rev. Vieira that if he had any evidence to support this rumor we would exert every effort to conduct an investigation of the matter.

"Rev. Vieira indicated he had no evidence to support such a charge," said Bertucelli. The mayor then read a statement submitttd by the minister.

"I accept on Mayor Bertucelli's word that the integrity of the planning commissioners regarding their action in the Betieff application is above repoach," read the statement.

"However, the questions I have previously raised concerning incompetency in the handling of this matter, the confusions and disturbing lack of public responsibility contained in the whole record of performanct still remains.

"Still remaining, also," continued the statement, "is my personal opposition to the use permit which violates the general plan and works against the proper interest of residents living adjacent to the proposed development."

In his earlier letter, the Rev. Vieira referred to a tape of the council session in which commission chairman Joseph Zlatunich said the vote had been reversed because of misunderstanding regarding the zones in the area.

He said he listened to the tape and heard nothing on it to substantiate the claim. City Manager Tom McKenzie, last night said the minister inadvertantly had been given the wrong tape.

In his initial letter, the minister also stated another situation about the matter in that the commissioners changed their votes "in the face of the identical application which previously they had opposed, and in defiance of a careful study of the planning office strongly recommending rejection."

Although the Rev. Vieira was unable to attend the session, he was represented by a man who identified himself as Leo Sack, 2248 Shannon Drive.

Sack spoke briefly to the council and irate planning commissioners concerning possible conflict of interest.

However, the matter was droppde after a brief exchange in which commissioners asked whether Sack was satisfied that there was no conflict of interest.

Sack replied, "temporarily."

Vice Principal Named At D.C. School

Among the many teacher and other personnel changes for the new school year in the Jefferson Elementary District is the appointment of James Sharpen as a vice principal.

Sharpen, of 304 El Dorado Drive, Daly City, will assist Mrs. Iola McKeown, the principal of the Fernando Rivera and Olympia schools. His annual salary will be $13,792.

A graduate of San Francisco State College, where he obtained both a bachelor and master of arts degree, Sharpen comes to the new post after teaching fifth grade for two years at Franklin D. Roosevelt school.

He also taught instrumental music at Benjamin Franklin and other district schools. Sharpen has credentials for general elementary, special secondary-music and elementary administration.

In another administrative change, Mrs. Betty Boykin, who has been serving as the health consultant and head nurse for the past three years was granted a change in her status.

Mrs. Boykin submitted a letter of resignation as health consultant and stated that she wished to sreve only as a nurse. The change in position resulted in a $2,652 reduction in salary from her $15,912 annual take home pay.

Appointed to the position of head nurse was Mrs. Marian Preovolos at an annual salary of $12,818. The position, however, does not carry the title of consultant. Mrs. Preovolos' duties will be mainly that of coordination.

Other changes approved by the school board included a request for child care leave from Mrs. Judith Fewster; the resignation of Mrs. Fern Bern, whose husband accepted a position in Florida; and a letter of resignation from Mrs. Jean Kennaugh, library assistant, because of health reasons.

The board also hired 10 full-time teachers for the new year, and 15 part-time teachers, as needed, at the rate of $26 a day.

Mrs. Rena Cortopassi was employed as an instructional aide at the Westlake School on a regular basis at $2.08 an hour. In addition, six noonyard supervisors were hired at $2 an hour on a regular basis, and five sub-noonyard supervisors were employed on a part-time basis as needed at $2 an hour.

Mrs. Mary Ann Mordokowicz was employed, as needed, on a part-time basis at $2.35 an hour as sub-secretary.

The board members, at the request of Superintendent Greenwood also held up action regarding the superintendent's and two associate superintendents' salaries. The item has been on two previous meeting agendas. Action was postponed until a total settlement is made with the teachers and the adjustments to the existing salary schedule have been made.

Eye-Opening Orientation In South S.F.

The first meeting of South San Francisco's new capital improvements public safety subcommittee was an eye-opening orientation by Police Chief John Fabbri.

While touring the police department facility, the chief pointed out good as well as bad points, explaining why a new building would benefit the city.

Two alternatives were briefly discussed at the Thursday night session. One is the possibility of building an extension on the present facility. The second would be to condemn property in the immediate vicinity of the station and build an entirely new facility.

If this were done, the possibility would exist of expanding cramped city hall offices into the present police department facility.

Smooth D.C. School Start

Superintendent Frank Greenwood of the Jefferson Elementary School District has termed this year's school opening "the smoothest (he's) experienced yet."

Classroom loads were the lowest they have been for many years. He said a canvass of school districts in the county indicated a similar trend.

Anticipated enrollment for the 1969-70 school year was 10,400 students. Last year there were 10,200. At the beginning of the school year, enrollment was 9,931 with kindergarten enrollments down for the first time.

At the end of the school year, last year, there were 1,350 kindergarten students enrolled. As of this past September 17, there were 1,182 new kindergarteners.

Jefferson Aides Travel

The National Public School Business Officials meeting in Phoenix, Ariz., will have at least two representatives from the Jefferson Elementary School District in attendance.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood and Associate Superintendent of Business Roger Barthuli have obtained permission from the school board to attend the October 18-21 conference.

Greenwood also recommended that members of the board take part in the conference if at all possible "since we seldom have a national conference in this area."
